AND COACHES

Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., Owner

Embarking upon his seventh season as the Owner of the San Francisco 49ers at age 36, which makes him the youngest among the 28 National Football League owners, Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., has (during his tenure as the 49ers' top man) fulfilled his promise to the team.

It was a promise made upon taking over the San Francisco club as 90 percent General Partner in '77: "I believe the best owners in sport to be those that hire the top professionals in the field and then let those people they've hired run the club," said DeBartolo. "My role will be one of financial and emotional support, and I will have unbending patience in the people chosen to guide the 49ers.

"I will be involved in the decision making process, of course, but mainly I will rely on the judgements that will be made by the top-notch football people running the team."

DeBartolo has displayed so much confidence in his staff that he saw fit last May to hand his own team title of President to Coach Bill Walsh, who also had served the team for four years as General Manager, and to appoint John McVay the 49ers' General Manager. Asked what title he would retain, DeBartolo said, "Just owner, that's plenty good enough."

Forty Niners' players call Eddie DeBartolo a "player's owner, a man of fairness and appreciation for your effort on the field — win or lose." And Walsh and McVay continually hail DeBartolo as "a truly great owner, considerate of all the needs of a professional football organization in today's high-priced market."

And DeBartolo himself, who has weathered 56 losses in the 90 games that have been played since he took over but who also can revel in the team's explosive 1981 season that produced a 16-3 record and the World Championship of football in Super Bowl XVI, continues to remain the same. "I believe in Bill and John and our present coaches and players and what we are doing on the 49ers. They have rewarded me with their performances. We won't be complacent, we'll continue to look at ways to be better through the organization. But we have the right people. I am sure of that."

As the Chief Executive Officer of the 49ers, DeBartolo's corporate responsibility only begins with the San Francisco football franchise since he also is the President and Chief Administrative Officer of the worldwide Edward J. DeBartolo Corporation of Youngstown, Ohio. The later role demands nearly all of his attention and time.

Founded in the DeBartolo family hometown of Youngstown in 1948 by Edward J. DeBartolo, Sr., who is the father of the 49ers' owner, the DeBartolo Corporation has become one of America's great business success stories. It is the leading planner, builder, owner and operator of enclosed regional shopping malls in the world, malls that total more than 50 million square feet of retail space.

Anticipating America's move to suburbia in the late '40s, Edward Sr. acquired land and built malls on the crest of suburban expansion. And as one mall succeeded, it was used as collateral for another. And another. Today, there are more than 50 DeBartolo malls from Pennsylvania to California. They include Cleveland's Randall Park Mall, the world's largest at 2,195,235 square feet. There are several others on the drawing boards, as well as dozens of smaller convenience centers doing business all over the United States.

Company holdings also include the Toledo Foreign Trade Zone and Overseas Terminal, office complexes, hotels, banks, gas wells, orange groves, real estate, and America's finest thoroughbred race tracks, including luxurious Louisiana Downs in Shreveport. The DeBartolos also own the Pittsburgh Penguins of the national Hockey League, the Pittsburgh Spirit indoor soccer team, the Pittsburgh Civic Arena, and hold commercial interest in many banks, including a role as majority stockholder in three of them.

It was this dynasty that Edward Jr. grew up in, starting at the bottom as a teenager and arriving today as one of America's chief executives for a major corporation. Called Eddie by friends and associates, his rise to the top of the DeBartolo Corporation became accelerated upon graduation from Notre Dame in 1968. Prior to that, he had worked for his father in the company, beginning at age 12 gardening and shoveling snow at mall locations and continuing into high school and college as a laborer on the DeBartolo construction crews. "We have a family moto . . . 'work harder than you play' . . . and I have, right from the time I was a youngster," reports Ed Jr.

Following college in 1968 he began an executive training program that had him move from department to department, learning the many facets of the company. In 1971 he was appointed a vice president, and five years later was named executive vice president and assumed leadership of the mammoth in-house DeBartolo staff of some 300 engineers, architects, designers, financiers, leasing agents, lawyers, management and operation teams, along with advertising, public relations and marketing personnel. He was appointed President and Chief Administrative Officer in July, 1979.

Edward Jr. purchased the 49ers in 1977 from the Morabito Family of San Francisco, with Jane Morabito and Franklin Mieuli retaining five percent apiece as minority owners, which they remain today.

A lesser known but just as important aspect of Eddie's life is his charitable participation throughout the U.S. He received the 1982 Salvation Army Citation of Merit, that organization's highest annual honor and one that had previously been bestowed upon Dwight D. Eisenhower, Cecil B. DeMille, Helen Hayes, and William Randolph Hearst, among other notables. At 35, he was the youngest honoree in history.

DeBartolo has given generously of his time and influence to the St. Jude Childrens Research Hospital, having directed the Youngstown effort for actor Danny Thomas, an effort that netted the greatest sum of any city its size in the nation. He also is active in the Heart Fund and Cancer Crusade, with United Way, and has served as director for a Youngstown Youth Center and as a member of the Board of Trustees at Youngstown State University.

Born Nov. 6, 1946, Eddie is married to the former Cynthia Papalia, who prefers the nickname Candy and who was his childhood sweetheart. They have three daughters, Lisa Marie (12/17/69), Tiffanie Lynne (11/27/70), and Nicole Anne (7/16/75).

BILL WALSH

President - Head Coach

The important fact that Bill Walsh wants to make clear as the San Francisco 49ers embark upon their fifth season under Walsh in 1983 is that even though he considered relinquishing the head coaching duties immediately following last year's disappointing 3-6 season, he now has never been happier or more content in coaching the 49ers.

"I'm more optimistic than I've been before any season since I came here," says Walsh. "I know that the time for me to get out of coaching and concentrate solely on the other roles of my job is not now. I'm very optimistic about this season. Right now, I wouldn't trade our team for any other."

After several meetings with team Owner Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., at DeBartolo's home in Youngstown, Ohio, following last season, Walsh was urged by DeBartolo to remain as the 49ers' coach, to not yet seek a coaching replacement and move himself full-time into his role as club general manager.

That request re-ignited the spark and Walsh soon was busying himself with four new hirings to his coaching staff, preparing for the '83 draft, and laying the groundwork for a key trade with the Los Angeles Rams that eventually was consummated the day-before-the-draft and brought halfback Wendell Tyler to the 49ers.

Walsh is particularly excited about the addition of Tyler, who should help take the pressure (either self-imposed or otherwise) off the team's offense, which passed in nearly every crucial situation in 1982. "Wendell's really one of the great players in football today," says Walsh. "He gives us the running back we haven't had since Paul Hofer. Remember, Wendell has scored 30 touchdowns the last two seasons and he's already produced two 1,000-yard seasons."

Walsh also is enthused about his new coaches, and with the appointment of erstwhile Secondary Coach George Seifert to the role of defensive coordinator. "George and I have been together since Stanford (1977) and he truly is one of the bright defensive minds in the game today. And in Paul Hackett (the team's new quarterbacks-receivers coach) we have added a very, very intelligent man who forces me to think about every decision in the offensive game plan.

"Coaching changes can be beneficial to an organization, they bring new expertise, they help sort out responsibilities again, they bring revitalization."

So Walsh, always known as a deep thinker, today is more secure in his own mind than he's ever been in his near-three decades of coaching. The team owner has stood solidly behind him for five years, he has one World Championship in his pocket (Super Bowl XVI), he has an industrious stable of assistant coaches, and he honestly believes that the 1983 49ers have as much or more talent than any San Francisco team in the last 10 to 15 years. "We need to put as much distance between last year and our approach to this season as we can," reports Walsh. "We will approach 1983 thinking that we are one of the best teams in football and take it from there."

Along with the renewed self-assurance came a mildly surprising announcement from DeBartolo in mid-May. The 49ers' owner promoted Walsh from Coach-General Manager to team President and Head Coach, once again reaffirming Walsh's total authority to run the football organization as best he sees fit. "Bill is the difference in the 49ers being recognized as a force to be dealt with in the National Football League," said DeBartolo. "I want it to stay that way."

Despite the won-lost record, 1983 was not a total disaster. On offense the 49ers improved their yards per game over their 1981 championship season performance, and also improved their: yards per play (5.5), passing yards per game (278), yards per pass (7.7), first downs per game (20.3), and points per game (23.2).

Meanwhile, Joe Montana tied for the NFL lead in touchdown passes with 17 and had an NFL-record five consecutive games of 300 or more yards passing, highlighted by a 49ers' record 408 yards passing in the St. Louis game. Dwight Clark was an All-Pro selection and led the NFL in receptions with 60 while achieving six games of 100 yards or more receiving. Clark also caught nearly 40 percent of every third down pass Montana completed, further underlining the statement that he is pro football's premier possession receiver.

But the Niners were last in the NFL in rushing yards per game with 82.2, one of the 15 worst performances in NFL annals since World War II, and Walsh is determined to change that, primarily with the addition of the mercurial Tyler, and first draft selection Roger Craig of Nebraska.

"We were third ranked in the NFC (14 teams) in total offense our first year, 1979, and third in passing offense in '80 and '81. Last year we led the NFC in passing. Now we must become more balanced, which should make our passing even more effective," said Walsh, who is proud of his passing reputation.

Since becoming the Oakland Raiders' backfield coach in 1966 under then Head Coach Al Davis, Walsh has gained a reputation as a pass master. In addition to developing the highly acclaimed Montana, Walsh is generally given credit for the development of two of the AFC's top gunners, Cincinnati's Ken Anderson and San Diego's Dan Fouts. Anderson won two NFL passing titles under Walsh's tutelage when Walsh was an assistant with the Bengals in the late '60s and early '70s, and in one season as offensive coordinator in San Diego, (1976), Fouts says Walsh turned his entire career around. Walsh also developed two NCAA passing champions (Guy Benjamin and Steve Dils) during his two years as head coach at Stanford (1977-78), and his list of either Pro Bowl or All-America pass receivers includes Bob Trumphy, Eric Crabtree, Chip Myers, Isaac Curtis, Charlie Joiner, James Lofton, Ken Margerum and Clark. He also is credited with cajoling top seasons out of quarterbacks Greg Cook, Sam Wyche, Virgil Carter and Steve DeBerg, and receivers Speedy Thomas, Pat Curran, Charle Young and Freddie Solomon.

Bill Walsh's first coaching experience came as a graduate assistant at San Jose State. As an undergraduate in the early '50s he had played both ways at end for Coach Bob Bronzan. He entered high school coaching in the San Francisco East Bay area at Fremont's Washington Union High School in 1957. By his second season there, his team was 9-1 and conference champion. Prior to that, Washington Union had been 1-26. It was a complete turnaround, and it would become a familiar pattern when Walsh again became a head coach two decades later.

He began a long apprenticeship as an assistant coach in 1960 when he became defensive coordinator on the staff of Coach Marv Levy at the University of California. In 1963 he moved across the Bay to Stanford as Coach John Ralston's administrative assistant (recruiting coordinator) and defensive backfield coach. In 1966 he joined the Raiders, then just over a year later when the American Football League expanded into Cincinnati and Paul Brown was given a franchise there, Walsh became Brown's quarterbacks and receivers coach.

Following eight prosperous seasons with the Bengals, Walsh joined Coach Tommy Prothro for a year as offensive coordinator of the Chargers, then moved to Stanford in '77 as head coach. His two Stanford teams were 17-7 overall and captured bowl wins at the conclusion of both seasons — the Bluebonnet and Sun Bowls. Stanford had not played in a bowl game in five years prior to '77.

Forty Niners' Owner DeBartolo hired Walsh as the 11th head coach in San Francisco history Jan. 9, 1979, and handed him a team that had gone 31-55 in the 86 games prior to Walsh's arrival, an expansion-like team of talent that had finished 2-14 in 1978 and near the bottom of the league in nearly every offensive statistical category.

Walsh's first team finished 2-14, but then the 49ers' record has steadily climbed to 25-19, including an NFL-best 16-3 in the championship '81 year that saw the 49ers also set club records of longest overall winning streak (7 games) and longest road winning streak (6 games). Walsh was the consensus NFL Coach-of-the-Year in '81.

Bill Walsh was born Nov. 30, 1931, in Los Angeles. Following his sophomore year in high school, his parents moved to Oregon for one year, then moved to Hayward, Calif., in the San Francisco East Bay area, where Bill finished high school.

Following graduation from Hayward High and two years at San Mateo Junior College, he enrolled at San Jose State, where he majored in education. He obtained his master's degree in 1959 and put in a two-year hitch in the U.S. Army.

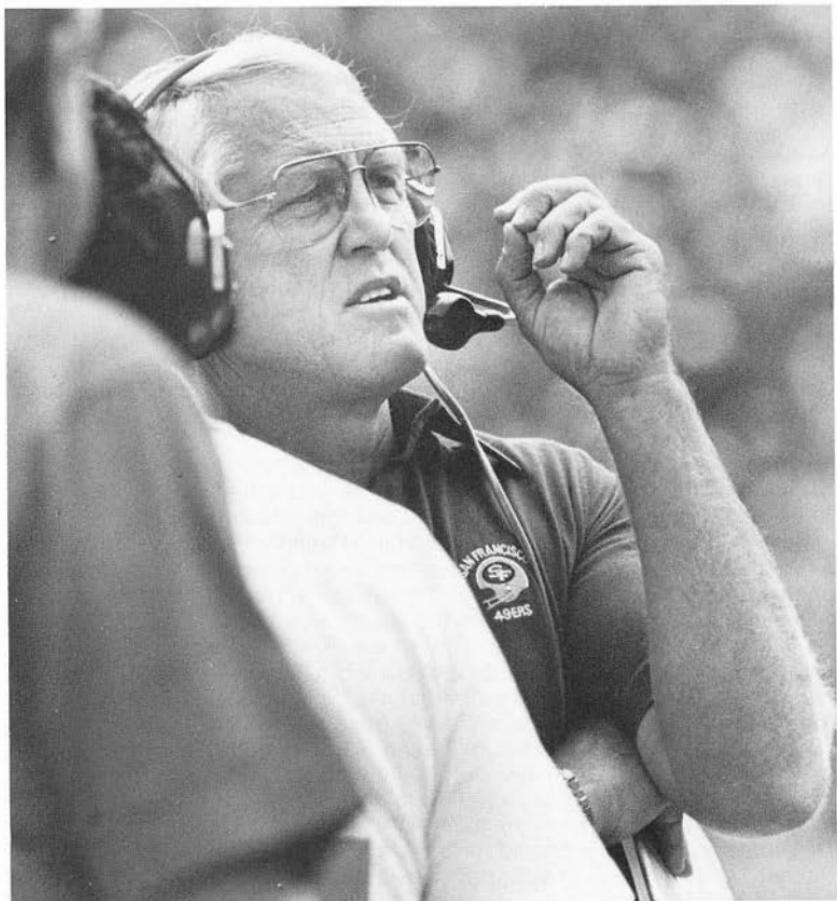

A tennis enthusiast and a constant reader of current events and historical non-fiction works, Bill lives with his wife Geri and 12-year-old daughter Elizabeth (5-28-71) in Menlo Park, Calif. Bill and Geri also have two grown sons — Steve (12-27-55) and Craig (7-10-59).

JOHN E. McVAY General Manager

John McVay had his typical off-season. The 49ers' chief administrative officer signed all the club's draft picks with a minimum of problems and fanfare, supervised and directed the work of six department heads, put in motion the beginnings of a reconstructed and improved 49ers' year-around facility with the addition of a 60-yard astroturf practice field.

And he received a promotion.

For McVay, the promotion may have been the most typical happening. Hired in January of 1979 as the club's Director of Player Personnel, McVay was promoted to

Director of Football Operations in the summer of 1980, and named Administrative Vice President following the 1981 season.

Then, last May 17, 49ers' Owner Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., named Bill Walsh team President and McVay General Manager. It was McVay's third promotion in four years. At a dinner where the promotions were announced, Walsh told members of the media, "John is the guy who really deserves the acclaim tonight. He's been a tough, steady administrator for the 49ers, really the core of our staff operation. He is most deserving of this role."

McVay's new assignment calls for him to report directly to DeBartolo and Walsh on all club matters, and direct the work of six department heads on a day-to-day basis.

A native of Bellaire, Ohio, and a product of famous high school football town Massillon, Ohio, McVay came to the 49ers after having served the New York Giants as head coach for two and one-half seasons (1976-78).

He had been hired by Giants' Owner Wellington Mara in 1975 as an assistant coach in charge of research and development but was elevated to head coach in the middle of the '76 season when Bill Arnsparger was released. His won-lost record with the Giants was 14-23.

Prior to joining the Giants, McVay was the head coach and general manager of the Memphis Southmen of the World Football League, where his teams were 24-7 in the year and one-half that league existed. McVay had left the University of Dayton, where he was head football coach for nine years (1956-73), and athletic director in '72 and '73, to join the Southmen.

McVay excelled as a player before entering coaching and administrative work. He was an All-Ohio center as a Massillon schoolboy, and an All-Midwest selection and two-time team MVP as a center at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, where he played for both Woody Hayes and Ara Parseghian. Because of John's lack of size, Hayes awarded McVay Miami's last available football scholarship his freshman year, yet John went on to become a four-year regular for the Redskins. He captained the team as a senior, and today is a member of that school's athletic Hall of Fame.

McVay went from Miami to become one of its 60-plus "Cradle of Coaches" alumni who have been successful collegiate and professional football coaches and administrators throughout the U.S. and Canada.

His coaching career began with a three-year stint at Lancaster (Ohio) High School, and he moved to Franklin High (Ohio) for one year, before a five-year stay (41-7) at Canton (Ohio) Central Catholic High School. From the prep ranks he joined Duffy Daugherty's staff at Michigan State as an assistant in 1962 and stayed three years. From MSU, McVay took over the Dayton post, and led the Flyers to their first winning grid season in ten years when they finished 8-2 in 1966.

John and his wife, Lee, have four grown sons (Rick Robinson and John Jr., Jim and Tim McVay) and live in nearby Belmont, Calif. They also have four grandsons.

George Seifert — DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR

George Seifert, the 49ers' new defensive coordinator for 1983, begins his fourth season of coaching in the NFL (the first three as secondary coach) following 15 years in the collegiate ranks.

After graduating from Utah (1963), Seifert served a six-month tour of duty with the U.S. Army before returning to Utah as a graduate assistant coach in 1964. Then, in 1965, he was named head coach at Westminster College in Salt Lake City.

He moved on to Iowa (1966), then to Oregon (1967-71) as an assistant, before joining Stanford University's staff (1972-74) as secondary coach (transforming the defensive backfield into the Pac-8 Conference's best statistically in both '72 and '73).

Seifert left Stanford in 1975 to become head coach at Cornell University (1975-76), but returned to Stanford to join Bill Walsh's staff in 1977. The Cardinal pass defense was second in the Pac-10 in both '78 and '79. In 1980, George joined Walsh again, this time with the 49ers.

A native of San Francisco, Seifert was born Jan. 22, 1940. He and his wife, Linda, have two children and live in Sunnyvale, Calif.

Paul Hackett — QUARTERBACKS/RECEIVERS

Paul Hackett, who enters his 13th season of coaching in 1983, joined the 49ers during the past offseason as assistant coach in charge of quarterbacks and receivers, following two years with the Cleveland Browns.

Just a year after leading the Far Western Conference in passing (1969) to cap a top-flight collegiate career, Hackett began his coaching career at his alma mater — UC-Davis in 1970. Following two seasons at Davis, Paul moved to a post at the University of California (1972-75), where he coached the late Joe Roth and All-America Steve Bartkowski (Falcons). Bartkowski led the NCAA in passing in '74, while Roth led the Pac-8 in passing during Hackett's final year at Cal, 1975.

In 1976, Paul was named quarterbacks coach at the University of Southern California, where from '76 through 1980 his pupils included Vince Evans (MVP of the '77 Rose Bowl — Bears), Rob Hertel (former Eagles), and Paul McDonald (Browns). McDonald set 17 USC, Pac-10 and NCAA records under Hackett's guidance and won the '78 Pac-10 passing title as well.

Hackett coached the Browns' quarterbacks during 1981 and '82.

Paul is married (Elizabeth) with two children — David and Nathaniel. They make their home in Redwood City, Calif. He was born July 5, 1947, in Burlington, Vt.

Norb Hecker — LINEBACKERS

The 49ers' linebacking mentor since 1979 ('83 is his fifth season with the Niners), Norb Hecker celebrates his 26th year in professional football as a player and a coach.

As a player, Hecker was a Little All-America offensive end at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, and his professional career began with Los Angeles, where he played both offensive end and defensive back (1951-53) with the Rams. He spent a season in Toronto (Canadian Football League) in 1954 before signing with Washington (for three seasons, 1955-57).

Norb returned to the CFL as a player-coach in 1958 with the Hamilton Tiger Cats, and the next season joined Vince Lombardi as an assistant coach in Green Bay. With the Packers (1959-65), he was part of the team's glory years in the '60s. Following his Green Bay tenure, Hecker spent two and one-half seasons as head coach of the Atlanta Falcons (1966-68) and three years (1969-71) as defensive coordinator for the New York Giants. He left the NFL in 1972 and spent seven seasons as an assistant coach at Stanford University, his last two coaching on Bill Walsh's staff there. Hecker came to the 49ers with Walsh in early '79.

Co-founder of the NFL Players Association, Norb was born in Olmstead Falls, Ohio, May 26, 1927. He and his wife, Barbara, have five grown children and live in Redwood City, Calif.

Sherman Lewis — RUNNING BACKS

Sherman Lewis, for the past 14 seasons an assistant coach at Michigan State University, enters his first year in the NFL as the 49ers' running back's coach.

An assistant with MSU since 1969, Sherman was the assistant head coach and defensive coordinator for the Spartans the past three years. He was a member of the staffs of Duffy Dougherty, Denny Stoltz, Darryl Rogers, and Frank "Muddy" Waters there.

The second runner-up for the 1963 Heisman Trophy (behind Roger Staubach of Navy and Billy Lothridge of Georgia Tech), Lewis was a two-way All-America halfback in football, and earned Football News College Player-of-the-Year honors in 1963. He was also a standout track and field performer for the Spartans.

Born in Louisville, Ky., on June 29, 1942, Sherm and his wife Toni, have two sons. He earned his masters degree from Michigan State in educational administration in 1974.

Bobb McKittrick — OFFENSIVE LINE

Bobb McKittrick enters his 13th season in the NFL and his fifth with the San Francisco 49ers as the coach for the offensive line.

McKittrick has been coaching professional football since 1971 when he was an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams under Tommy Prothro (1971-72). He took a sabbatical from football in 1973 to do graduate work at his alma mater (Oregon State), before rejoining Prothro at San Diego (1974-78). He also coached the Chargers offensive line under Don Coryell at the conclusion of the '78 season.

Bobb began his coaching career in 1961 as an assistant at Oregon State, after three years in the U.S. Marine Corps as an officer. He coached at Oregon State (1961-64) and at UCLA (1965-70) on the collegiate level.

McKittrick was born in Baker, Ore., Dec. 29, 1935. He and his wife, Teckla, have two children and live in San Mateo, Calif.

Bill McPherson — DEFENSIVE LINE

Entering his sixth year of professional football coaching, Bill McPherson is in his fifth season with the 49ers — one as linebackers coach and the last four (counting 1983) as defensive line coach.

A defensive tackle at Santa Clara in the early '50s, McPherson began coaching in 1956 at his high school alma mater, San Jose's Bellarmine Prep (1956-62), following Army service in Korea. He later was the defensive coordinator at Santa Clara University (1963-74) for 12 years before moving to UCLA (1975-77). McPherson coached the defensive line at both Santa Clara and UCLA.

At UCLA, Bill worked with Dick Vermeil, whom he later joined as an assistant with the Philadelphia Eagles. McPherson was linebackers coach for Vermeil in Philadelphia (1978) for one year, before returning to his native state of California and joining the 49ers.

Bill and his wife, Elsie, have five children and live in San Jose. He was born there Oct. 24, 1931.

Ray Rhodes — SECONDARY

San Francisco's new defensive backfield coach for 1983 is Ray Rhodes, the 49ers' assistant secondary coach under George Seifert the past two seasons.

Ray entered the coaching profession in 1981, just in time for the 49ers' first World Championship, after seven seasons in the league as a fine, all-around player.

Rhodes, who played defensive back for San Francisco in 1980, came to the 49ers after six seasons with the New York Giants, where he played both offense and defense. Drafted by the Giants in the tenth round of '74, Ray played wide receiver until 1977 when he was switched to defensive back. He led all NFC receivers in average yards gained (20.7) per catch in 1975.

A collegiate running back at TCU for two years before ending his career at Tulsa as a wide receiver, kick returner and running back, Ray also earned letters in track & field at Tulsa.

Rhodes, a native of Mexia, Tex., was born Oct. 20, 1950. He and his wife, Carmen, have three children and live in Fremont, Calif.

Fred vonAppen — SPECIAL TEAMS

Fred vonAppen, a former Stanford assistant coach under Bill Walsh, joined the 49ers during the past offseason as special teams coach.

vonAppen worked for Walsh during Stanford's bowl years of 1977 and '78, then left when Walsh came to the 49ers in 1979. At that time, Fred joined the Packers as defensive line coach.

In addition to Stanford and Green Bay, Fred has also coached high school and college in Oregon and at three other universities around the country.

He has coached at Linfield College in McMinnville, Ore., where he was an all-league selection as a player and where he received both his bachelor's and master's degrees. He also has worked at Arkansas ('69 and '80), UCLA ('70), Virginia Tech ('71), Oregon (1972-76), Stanford (1977-78 and '82), and Green Bay ('79).

Now in his 20th year of coaching, vonAppen is a native of Eugene, Ore. He and his wife (Sally) have three children — Mark, Molly, and Joe. They live in Cupertino, Calif.

Tommy Hart — ASSISTANT DEFENSIVE LINE

Tommy Hart, a former All-Pro defensive end for the 49ers, was named assistant defensive line coach during the past offseason.

Hart, who retired from the NFL in 1980 following 13 seasons, assists Defensive Line Coach Bill McPherson.

A product of Macon, Ga., and Morris Brown College, Hart became one of the 49ers' greatest defensive ends in history after coming out of college in 1968 as a tenth round draft choice. He built himself up from a 213-pound lineman who played both ways at Morris Brown to a 245-pounder in the pros. He was the 49ers' Len Eshmont Award winner in 1972 and '76 (along with Jimmy Johnson and Paul Hofer, the only 49ers to win the award twice) and was named to the '76 Pro Bowl after registering 16 sacks that season, including six in one game against the Rams. Tommy was also named All-Pro that year by the PFWA and NEA.

He has operated Tommy Hart's Sport Store in Redwood City since his playing days after concluding his career in New Orleans in 1980, following two seasons in Chicago (1978 and '79).

Hart was born November 11, 1944. He is married (Cherrie Ann) and they have four daughters — Sebrina, Ywakita, Tanya, and Crystal. They live in Redwood City, Calif.

Jerry Attaway — COORDINATOR FOR PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT

Jerry Attaway begins his first season as the 49ers' coordinator for physical development, following five years in a similar capacity at the University of Southern California.

Attaway is a product of UC-Davis and Sacramento State. An injury cut short his football career at UC-Davis, and he finished his undergraduate work in physical education at Sacramento State in 1972.

Following graduation, he served as an assistant coach at the College of Idaho for three years and then spent the next two seasons as an assistant at Utah State, prior to his USC stint.

During his first three years at Southern Cal, Jerry was the assistant offensive line coach as well as coordinator for physical development. He concentrated on those latter duties his last two years with the Trojans. Attaway's first coaching job was with Paul Hackett (fellow 49ers' assistant) as freshman coach at UC-Davis in the late '60s and they also worked together at USC.

Jerry was born January 3, 1946, in Susanville, Calif. He is single and lives in San Carlos, Calif.

Lindsay McLean — HEAD TRAINER

Lindsay McLean has been an athletic trainer for 21 years, including 11 years as head trainer at the University of Michigan prior to joining the 49ers as co-trainer in 1979. He was named the 49ers' head trainer last spring.

Before he joined Michigan's staff (1968-78), McLean served as head trainer at UC-Santa Barbara (1963-64) and San Jose State (1965-67).

A native of Nashville and a 1960 graduate of Vanderbilt, McLean received his certification in physical therapy from Herman Hospital in Houston, Tex., in 1961.

Born June 28, 1938, he lives in Redwood City, Calif.

John Miller — ASSISTANT TRAINER

John Miller is in his fourth season with the 49ers, second as the team's assistant athletic trainer.

A 1980 graduate of Pennsylvania State University (B.S. in health and physical education), John was that school's Marshall (Valedictorian) for the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation in May of '80. He earned his master of art degree in physical therapy from Stanford in June, 1982.

Miller joined the 49ers in 1980 as a parttime assistant trainer prior to moving up to the post of (fulltime) assistant athletic trainer with the Niners in '82. He served as an athletic trainer at the Seattle Seahawks in 1979.

John was born January 17, 1958, in Fargo, N.D. He is single and lives in Palo Alto, Calif.

Chico Norton — EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Forrest "Chico" Norton has become a San Francisco 49ers institution. Chico, whose nickname comes from his hometown of Chico, Calif., begins his 29th year as the 49ers' equipment manager. He has been with the organization longer than any other employee.

Born Nov. 24, 1919, Norton first entered professional athletics when he went to work for the San Francisco Seals baseball team in 1948. He joined the 49ers in 1955.

He and his wife, Sylvia, live in San Francisco. They have seven grown children.

Bronco Hinek — ASSISTANT EQUIPMENT MANAGER

Frank Bronco Hinek joined the 49ers this past offseason as the team's assistant equipment manager following 14 seasons with the San Diego Chargers.

Born in Milwaukee, Wis., where his father (Frank) worked as an equipment manager for Marquette University (and later the Oakland Raiders — 1960-62), Bronco was the chief clubhouse attendant with the Chargers for four seasons (1969-72) and assistant equipment manager with that club from '72 through last season.

He got his start in the field helping his father at Marquette and Oakland (and serving as a camp aid with the Los Angeles Rams — 1968-69).

Bronco was married to the former Trish Bernie of Moraga, Calif., in July, '83.

John Ayers • 68

GUARD • WEST TEXAS STATE • 7TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 265 • BORN: 4-14-53 • (D-8 IN '76)

PRO: John Ayers is only human, but it took a flu bug to prove it! When flu overtook Ayers during Week No. 2 (at Denver, 9-19) of the '82 season, the big guard was forced out of the 49ers' starting lineup for the first time since December, '78 (12-17-78), snapping a 52-game streak of starting assignments for Ayers. The West Texas State product now has started 74 of the past 77 contests for San Francisco, dating back to December, '77 (entering the '83 slate and including postseason play). The Denver game is the only time in the last 90 49ers' dates that Ayers hasn't seen action. John was drafted in the eighth round of '76 by San Francisco and played every position along the offensive line until finding a home at guard in '79 (after playing more tackle than guard in 1978). He returns in '83 after knee surgery at the end of the 1982 campaign (injured in season finale vs. L.A. Rams, 1-2-83). "If John can return to full health, he will be one of the top offensive guards in the NFL," says Bill Walsh. "John could very well be the best pass protector on the 49ers' squad." Pro Bowl Guard Randy Cross says of his teammate: "John just keeps improving each year. To be perfectly honest with you, I felt in '82 that I was the second best guard on our team."

COLLEGE: Ayers was an All-Missouri Valley Conference selection as a defensive end at West Texas State in 1975 (as a senior). He lettered for the Buffaloes in 1973-74-75 after transferring there from the University of Texas in Austin. Ayers started 32 consecutive games for WTSU.

PERSONAL: An All-Texas schoolboy team honoree as a senior, John was a standout athlete at Carrizo Springs High School. He and his wife, Laurel, have two children — one son, J.T. (6-5-79) and one daughter, Jolee (6-4-82). They make their offseason home in Canyon, Tex. John was born in San Antonio, Tex. His NFL stats include a fumble recovery in 1978 and a tackle following an interception (vs. Atlanta 11-8-81).

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1976 (missed '76 season on injured reserve), 1977 (14/1), 1978 (16/14), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), 1982 (8/8). Career (86/71); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

Guy Benjamin • 7

QUARTERBACK • STANFORD • 6TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 210 • BORN: 6-27-55 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: Guy Benjamin has played in only 15 NFL games during his five-year professional football career. That, however, doesn't matter. What matters is that "Guy could lead us if he had to . . . within a week of taking over — if we had to turn to him — he could guide the offense at a proficient level," says Bill Walsh. "He is our No. 2 quarterback, behind Joe Montana, and Joe is one of the premier quarterbacks in the NFL. So Guy's playing time will be limited. Guy is very able and could start with other NFL teams." Benjamin threw only one pass in '82, but it was on the mark for 10 yards (vs. San Diego, 12-11-83). Benjamin was a second round pick of the Miami Dolphins in 1978 — the third quarterback selected (behind Doug Williams and Matt Cavanaugh) and 51st player chosen overall. He was traded to New Orleans for a fourth round draft choice (9-1-80) before another trade brought him back to the Bay Area where he had played college ball for Walsh at Stanford. Guy was acquired from New Orleans (7-13-81) for a sixth round draft choice in the '82 NFL draft.

COLLEGE: Guy led the nation in passing as a senior at Stanford under Walsh (208-for-330 for 2,790 yards and 19 TDs for a 63.1 completion percentage). His 48 career TDs at Stanford places him second on the all-time Cardinal charts behind Jim Plunkett (52) and he was an Academic All-America selection in political science. He was the 1977 Wiseman Trophy winner (award given nationally by Victoria Station Restaurants to its "player-of-the-year"). Benjamin capped his collegiate career with a three touchdown, 269-yard (23-of-36 passes) performance in a 24-14 win over LSU in the Sun Bowl.

PERSONAL: Born in Hollywood, Calif., in 1955, Benjamin attended James Monroe High School in Sepulveda, Calif. His full name is Guy Emory Benjamin and he calls Montara, Calif., his current home. Guy earned his bachelor of arts degree in political science from Stanford in 1978 and attends graduate school in the offseason. His pro stats include two rushes for minus-one yard.

DEFENSIVE END • NORTH CAROLINA A&T • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 248 • BORN: 11-29-56 • (FA IN '79)

PRO: When the World Champion 49ers of 1981 fell to 3-6 in 1982, many fingers were pointed in the direction of Dwaine Board. His name popped up in most explanations of "What Happened?" The reason?

Injury. Dwaine Board's 1982 injury (vs. the Raiders in the opening game, 9-12-82) was a key to the 49ers' defensive problems last year, just as his outstanding play in '81 was one of the keys to his team's climb to the top. Board played in three games in '80 before a knee injury ended his season, and in all 19 games in '81 after coming back from his '80 injury. The injury in last season's opener was to his right knee (the '80 knee injury had been to his left knee). In the 23 games started by this defensive end over the past three seasons, San Francisco's record is 19-4, while without Board in the other 21 games over the last three campaigns, the 49ers are 6-15. In other words: "Dwaine was definitely missed in 1982. He was our best all-around defensive player in 1981," praised Bill Walsh. Board originally was drafted by Pittsburgh in the fifth round of 1979 and waived by the Steelers (8-27-79) in Pittsburgh's final cut that year. San Francisco claimed Board on waivers and he made a surprisingly easy adjustment from small college linebacker to NFL defensive end with the 49ers in '79. He earned a starting nod by mid-season and became the Niners' most successful rookie, leading the team in sacks.

COLLEGE: Board was a four-year starter for North Carolina A&T at linebacker and was selected to the Mutual Black Radio All-America Team three times (1975, '76, '77). An All-Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference first team selection his final two seasons, he was voted the MEAC Defensive Player-of-the-Year in 1977.

PERSONAL: Dwaine is a graduate of Franklin County High School in Rocky Mount, Va., where he was born. He makes his offseason home in Foster City, Calif. Board received his bachelor of science degree in industrial technology from North Carolina A&T in Greensboro in 1979. His nickname is "Pee-Wee" ("You should see my brother" is his explanation).

Dan Bunz • 57

LINEBACKER • CAL STATE-LONG BEACH • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 225 • BORN: 10-7-55 • (D-1B IN '78)

PRO: For Dan Bunz, 1982 was an agonizing season. It started okay as he recorded 19 tackles (8 solo/11 assists) through four preseason games and eight tackles (5 solo/3 assists) in the season opener against the Raiders (9-12-82). But then came a painful (and season ending) 22 groin injury, the 57-day players' strike, and finally Dan was placed on injured reserve for the final seven games of the shortened season. Entering 1982, Bunz had averaged 104 tackles a season and had led the team in total tackles in each of his first three years. Of his 431 career tackles, five do not count officially in his statistical records because they came in postseason play. And, among those "extra five" is one that will live forever on video and in the minds of 49ers' fans everywhere. His hit on Cincinnati's Charles Alexander (at the one-inch line) during San Francisco's historic third-quarter goal-line-stand in Super Bowl XVI was a career highlight. It was one of three key plays Dan participated in during that stand. Bunz was the Niners' 1B draft pick in 1978 and was named to the NFL All-Rookie Team in his first season. "Dan has had his peaks and valleys over the last five seasons, but he keeps working and improving," says Linebackers Coach Norb Hecker.

COLLEGE: As a three-year starter at Cal State-Long Beach, Bunz recorded 448 tackles, including 72 solo and 99 assists as a senior. He was voted MVP in the Pacific Coast Athletic Association and was honorable mention All-America. He played in both the Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine game.

PERSONAL: Dan graduated from Oakmont High School in Roseville, Calif., and makes his offseason home on a ranch east of Sacramento (just minutes from the Niners' summer training site at Sierra College in Rocklin). Both Rocklin and Roseville had a "Dan Bunz Day" following the 49ers' 1981 World Championship season. Dan was born in Roseville. He played a bit part in the movie "North Dallas Forty" following the '78 season.

John Choma • 60

GUARD-CENTER • VIRGINIA • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 261 • BORN: 2-9-55 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: He's a utility lineman (pro football's version of a "utility infielder") and not just on offense. John Choma can play several positions along the offensive line, but can also fill in on the goal line on the defensive line and play on special teams. He is officially listed as a guard-center, but can move to tackle if needed. "His best position is offensive guard, but John helps us in so many other areas as well," says Bill Walsh. Choma originally was selected in the fifth round of the 1978 NFL draft by the San Diego Chargers but was on injured reserve with a staph infection the entire '78 season. He was released from the Chargers (8-27-79), signed by Kansas City (12-12-79), and released in camp (8-19-80) the next year. The 49ers signed Choma during the offseason (2-24-81), and he has played in 24 (of 28) games since (entering the '83 season). "It is all part of finding a place on the roster. The more you can do. I'm willing to play anywhere at anytime with the 49ers," explains Choma.

COLLEGE: John was a three-year starter as an offensive tackle and offensive guard at the University of Virginia.

PERSONAL: Married to the former Gloria Vander Meer, John attended Normandy High School in Parma, Ohio. His full name is John Gregory Choma and he earned his bachelor of science (health and P.E.) from Virginia in 1978. He was born in Cleveland, Ohio, and makes his offseason home — with Gloria — in Atherton, Calif. Choma was active for one game in 1979 with the Chiefs but did not play.

STATS: Regular season games/start — 1981 (14/0), 1982 (7/0). Career (21/0); Postseason games/start — 1981 (3/0).

Bryan Clark • 15

QUARTERBACK	•	MICHIGAN STATE	•	2ND YEAR
HT: 6-2	•	WT: 196	•	BORN: 7-27-60
• (D-9 IN '82)

PRO: "Bryan Clark has a future in the NFL." That comment comes from Bill Walsh, possibly the top quarterback mentor in football today. Bryan's rookie year was cut extremely short due to a severely sprained ankle in preseason and the 57-day players' strike during the regular slate. Prior to his injury (at San Diego, 8-28-82), however, he showed promise and demonstrated that he can be a competitive NFL signal caller. His three-game preseason stats included 20 of 26 passes for 193 yards and two scores (four yards vs. the Raiders and three yards vs. the Cardinals, both to Eason Ramson). He also carried three times for 15 yards. Bryan was on the club's four-man inactive list during the first two weeks of the season, but was active for the final seven games of the campaign. "Bryan played well as a rookie," says 49ers' No. 1 QB Joe Montana, "He has poise, a good strong arm and can read defenses."

COLLEGE: Bryan passed for 2,725 yards from 1978 through '81 for the Spartans of Michigan State (including 1,521 yards in his senior season on 109 completions in 204 attempts). As team MVP in 1981, Clark threw 14 touchdown passes and carried the pigskin 48 times for 119 yards and a score.

PERSONAL: The son of Monte Clark (head coach and director of football operations for the Detroit Lions) Bryan was born Monte Bryan Clark in 24

Redwood City, Calif., July 27, 1960. The senior Clark played with the 49ers (1959-60-61) and was head coach in San Francisco in 1976. Redwood City is the home of the Niners' year-round training headquarters. Last year's summer training camp was not Bryan's first. He has spent many a summer (under his father) as a ball boy and aide in the equipment room for several NFL teams.

Dwight Clark • 87

WIDE RECEIVER • CLEMSON • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 210 • BORN: 1-8-57 • (D-10A IN '79)

PRO: The year 1982 was a pretty good one for Dwight Clark, one of the most productive players in the National Football League. As a matter-of-fact, "pretty good" is an understatement. In 1982, Clark led the NFL in receptions with 60 (nearly 7 per outing) . . . was second in yardage (first in the NFC) at 913 (15.3 average per catch/101.4 per game) . . . tied the club record for MOST RECEPTIONS-GAME with 12 against San Diego (12-11-82) . . . extended his team mark for MOST CONSECUTIVE GAMES WITH AT LEAST ONE PASS CATCH to 43 contests (including postseason games & dating back to the second game of the 1980 season) . . . earned the starting nod in the '83 Pro Bowl, and unanimous All-Pro honors . . . and was chosen as Sports Illustrated's NFL Player-of-the-Year. And, to top it all off, his teammates selected him the Len Eshmont Award winner for his "courageous and inspirational play" (the team's highest single annual honor). All that came to Dwight Clark in '82 was deserved due to the hard working virtues of his diurnal lifestyle. Just ask those who know him: "What's always impressed me about Dwight as a football player is that he gives every last ounce of himself during a game and during each day's practice session," says former Clemson teammate/roommate and current Kansas City Chiefs' QB Steve Fuller. "He never cheats his team or himself. Dwight never ran the wrong route or dropped a ball in college. We didn't pass much at Clemson, but when we did pass to Dwight, he always came through." Bill Walsh agrees: "Dwight truly is the quintessential competitive athlete . . . he's been an inspirational player because of the standard of work he's given the team . . . he's the ultimate NFL performer in being a real technician and mechanic in his field and getting the most out of his abilities." 'DC,' as he is known to his teammates and friends, had at least four catches in each of San Francisco's nine '82 games. He and Kellen Winslow (San Diego) are the only two players since the NFL merger to average over 75 receptions-a-season over three consecutive years. Dwight, with seasons of 82, 85 and 60 (totaling 227) averaged 75.7 catches for '80, '81 and '82, while Winslow, with campaigns of 88, 89 and 54 (totaling 231) averaged 77 receptions over that same period. Lionel Taylor (Denver) is the only other professional player to do so in history, and he did it four times from 1960 to 1965 — averaging 89.7, 85, 77, and 79.7 for the three-year spans of '60-62, '61-63, '62-64, and '63-65. Clark's 85 catches in 1981 is the 49ers' club record. Clark originally came to the Niners as a 10th round draft pick in 1979. Since becoming a regular in 1980, Dwight has had 13+ 100-yard games, including six in '82. Clark's five scores in 1982 and his last TD grab of the '81 campaign (the catch against Dallas in the NFC championship game that sent the 49ers to Super Bowl XVI) were all third-down receptions — (3rd/3 vs. Dallas — 1-10-82) — 3-yard TD, (3rd/10 vs. Raiders — 9-12-82) — 41-yards, (3rd/7 at Denver — 9-19-82) — 24 yards, (3rd/5 at St. Louis — 11-21-82) — 33 yards, (3rd/7 vs. San Diego — 12-11-82) — 7 yards, and (3rd/2 vs. Atlanta — 12-19-82) — 7 yards. His 1982 honors included: All-NFL (AP, NEA, PFWA, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest, Sports Illustrated), Pro Bowl, UPI All-NFC, runner-up for the Gino Cappelletti Award, and SI's Player-of-the-Year.

COLLEGE: Clark caught 33 passes for 571 yards and a 17.3 average per catch in three years of varsity action at Clemson. He played strong safety for the Tigers as a freshman. He had receiving seasons of seven (sophomore), 15 (junior), and 11 (senior) catches for three TDs for the Tigers. Dwight earned his degree in history from Clemson in 1980. His college roommate was QB Steve Fuller of the Kansas City Chiefs.

PERSONAL: Clark was born Dwight Edward Clark in Kinston, N.C., and grew up in Charlotte, where he attended Garinger High School. "DC" favors golf, basketball and tennis as other sports of interest.

Mike Clark • 90

DEFENSIVE END • FLORIDA • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 250 • BORN: 3-30-59 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: According to scouting reports from 1979 when Mike Clark was a 6-2, 210-pound running back for the Florida Gators, he was projected as a "late bloomer." Today, two inches taller and 40 pounds stronger, Clark still is blooming. "Mike is a big, active athlete who could 26 contribute more as he gains in experience, learns the system and improves his skills," says Bill Walsh. Clark joined the 49ers late (11-23-82) as a free agent last year and played in the final six games. Originally, Mike was drafted in 1981 by the Los Angeles Rams as a 7B (190th overall player chosen) pick. He was waived in the league's final cutdown (to 45 players) when Fred Dryer was restored to the Rams' roster following a salary dispute (8-31-81). The Washington Redskins signed Clark (9-7-81), and he played five games (Games 2 thru 6) before a knee injury against Chicago forced him to the injured reserve list (10-14-81). The Redskins released him in preseason and San Francisco picked him up in November of '82.

COLLEGE: Mike played running back, tight end, defensive tackle and defensive end at Florida as he kept maturing and growing. He played mainly DT and DE as a senior.

PERSONAL: Michael Hugh Clark is his full name and he was born in Dothan, Ala., on March 30, 1959. He grew up in Florida and attended Graceville (Fla.) High School. In 1982 (and at the start of '82), he was one of three Clarks on the 49ers' roster. Mike's '82 stats included an assisted tackle against New Orleans (11-28-82) and two solo stops versus San Diego (12-11-82).

Tim Collier • 47

CORNERBACK • EAST TEXAS STATE • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 176 • BORN: 5-31-54 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: Tim Collier enters his eighth professional season hoping he has found a home with the San Francisco 49ers, his third NFL team. Bill Walsh hopes so, too: "Tim joined the team late last year (12-14-82) and played in only two games for the 49ers, but he has given every indication that he can be an excellent coverage man for us. He is probably the quickest defensive back on the roster and he could very well be part of the nickel defense in '83." Collier came to San Francisco as a free agent after being waived by St. Louis the first week of December, following two-and-a-half seasons with the Cardinals. He originally was a ninth round draft choice by Kansas City in 1976. Tim played 52 games (23 starts) for Kansas City from 1976 through '79 and totaled nine interceptions for 227 yards and one score. That single TD was the result of the ninth longest interception return in NFL history (100 yards vs. Oakland, 12-18-77), and was one of two steals from the Raiders that afternoon by Collier. Collier was traded to St. Louis (12-15-80) for a 5th round draft pick in '80. In 30 games (11 starts) with the Cards, Tim had 59 total tackles, three interceptions for 39 yards, and 17 passes defensed. In two '82 games with the 49ers, Tim had eight tackles and a defensed pass.

COLLEGE: In three seasons at East Texas State, Collier intercepted nine passes. He earned All-Lone Star Conference honors each year (1973-74-75). Tim also was named to the Lone Star Conference All-Decade team for the '70s. He played both safety and corner for the Lions and was a college teammate of Harvey Martin (Cowboys). As a sprinter on the ETSU track & field team, Collier recorded a 9.4 100-yard dash.

PERSONAL: Born Timothy Collier in Dallas, Tex., Tim and his wife, Carol, call St. Louis home during the offseason. He attended South Oak Cliff High School in Dallas where he was a standout athlete. Some of his high school teammates included Wayne Morris (Cardinals), Harvey Martin (Cowboys) and Michael Downs (Cowboys).

George Collins • 63

GUARD-TACKLE • GEORGIA • 6TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 265 • BORN: 12-9-55 • (TRADE IN '83)

PRO: A late April (4-21-83) trade acquisition from St. Louis, George Collins enters his sixth year in the NFL with a new team, the San Francisco 49ers. And Niners' Offensive Line Coach Bobb McKittrick thinks it could be a good move for both Collins and the 49ers: "George has the potential to make this team and become a real factor in our offense. He makes good contact when blocking, sustains his blocks well, and is alert and a good helper as a pass protector." Collins was drafted in the fourth round (96th player selected overall) of 1978 by St. Louis and played his entire career there before the April trade to San Francisco (for G-T Dan Audick).

COLLEGE: George played collegiately at the University of Georgia as a 235-pound lineman. He earned All-America honors (The Sporting News), All-SEC (UPI), and was voted best offensive lineman in the Southeastern Conference by the Birmingham News. Collins was a two-year starter at guard, but played tight end as a sophomore. He played in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games to cap a fine college career.

PERSONAL: An outstanding prep athlete, George played football, baseball and basketball at Warner Robins High School in Macon, Ga. His full name is George Francis Collins III and he was born in Macon. George and his wife, Tina, call Athens, Ga., their offseason home. He holds an education degree from Georgia. Collins' NFL stats include one fumble recovery in 1979 and 1981, and a kickoff return for no yardage in 1980.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (13/0), 1979 (15/3), 1980 (16/9), 1981 (16/13), 1982 (9/1), Career (69/26).

Earl Cooper • 49

TIGHT END • RICE • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 227 • BORN: 9-17-57 • (D-1A IN '80)

PRO: For Earl Cooper, life shouldn't be such a "rush" anymore as he enters '83 at a new position and with a new outlook on life and his career. He is no longer Fullback Earl Cooper, he enters the current campaign as Tight End Earl Cooper. "I'm excited about the prospects of this change," admits Cooper. "I feel like a rookie again entering camp. We all know I can catch, so now I have to work on the other areas of tight end a little harder. I feel good about it!" So does Bill Walsh, who made the change at the May mini-camp after considering it for a couple of years: "It is a calculated move on our part to take advantage of Earl's talents as a downfield receiver. His true speed (4.5 in the 40) is more evident when he runs as a receiver. His style of running is more like that of a receiver than a runner." Cooper has played in 41 consecutive regular season games for the 49ers since being drafted in the first round of 1980, and he has caught at least one pass in every one of them. He has been shut out in that department only once in his professional career, and that was against the New York Giants (1-3-82) in the NFC playoffs of '81. In 24 of those 41 consecutive games-with-a-catch, Cooper has had three-or-more receptions and nine times he has hauled in a half-dozen-or-more passes.

COLLEGE: Cooper rushed for 1,583 yards on 407 carries and caught 101 passes for 802 yards as a collegian. He scored 21 touchdowns in four seasons with the Rice Owls. As a senior in '79 (Rice finished 1-10), Earl rushed 146 times for 563 yards and hauled in 47 passes for another 463 yards and seven scores. He played in the Blue-Gray, Senior, and East-West Shrine all-star games following his Rice career.

PERSONAL: As a high school quarterback, halfback, receiver, and linebacker, Cooper played at tiny Lincoln High in Lexington, Tex. He was a four-event track and field performer and a basketball player there as well. His off-season home is Houston, and he was born in Giddings, Tex. Earl has his degree from Rice (physical education, 1981). A highlight to his '81 campaign was appearing on the covers of Sports Illustrated twice (12-1-81 & 2-1-82).

Randy Cross • 51

GUARD • UCLA • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 265 • BORN: 4-25-54 • (D-2A IN '76)

PRO: Two-time Pro Bowl Guard Randy Cross may just have the year of his life in 1983. You see, he feels he has something to prove. The eighth-year lineman had a superb season in 1981 when the 49ers won the world championship and Randy was selected All-NFC, All-Pro, and named to the Pro Bowl. Last season, after a Memorial Day accident during a charity appearance at a local amusement park almost ended his career, Cross came back from a broken left leg (fibula bone) and torn ligaments in his left ankle — the result of that fall — to again earn Pro Bowl status. His play, however, during '82 was hampered and not up to his high self-established level. In simple terms, Randy Cross would like to prove he deserves All-Pro status again. His streak of consecutive starting assignments was snapped in 1982 when the season opener against the Raiders (9-12-82) began without him in the first unit. The streak was 51 games (counting playoffs). Randy has been active 97 games as a professional and has started all but five of them. Cross was the team's top choice (2A) in the '76 draft, and he immediately became the squad's starting center until an ankle injury sidelined him in 1978. When he came back in '79, he was moved to right guard because of the rapid development of Fred Quillan at center.

COLLEGE: Cross played both guard and center (many times both positions in the same game) and started every game in his junior and senior seasons at UCLA. He was AP and UPI All-America at guard as a senior.

PERSONAL: Cross was the California high school state champion in the shot put, besides being a standout gridiron at Encino's Crespi High. He was born Randall Laureat Cross in Brooklyn, N.Y., before moving to Tarzana, Calif., as a youth. He and his wife, Patrice, make their home in Redwood City, 30

Calif. (training home of the 49ers). Randy earned a degree in political science from UCLA in 1976. His NFL statistics include one fumble recovery in 1976, two in '79, and one in 1982. Randy was chosen the 49ers' NFL man-of-the-year in 1981 (sponsored by Miller Brewing Co.) as the team's "outstanding citizen-athlete."

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1976 (14/10), 1977 (14/14), 1978 (9/9), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), 1982 (9/8). Career (94/89); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

CROSS' NFL HONORS: All-Rookie - 1976, All-NFC - 1981, Pro Bowl - 1982-83, All-Pro - 1981.

Fred Dean • 74

DEFENSIVE END • LOUISIANA TECH • 9TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 236 • BORN: 2-24-52 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: Opposing quarterbacks admit they don't enjoy his company much, but that doesn't stop Fred Dean. He gets a kick out of going one-on-one with them anyway. As a "super-substitute" in 1981, "Mean Fred Dean" was the NFLPA's Defensive Lineman-of-the-Year, mostly due to the company he kept (the other team's QBs). The "sack-machine" let up a little in '82 (hampered by injuries all season long) but still led the 49ers in sacks (3½ for 28½ yards), giving him a two-year, 28-game total at San Francisco of 16½ for 139 yards. Which is why it is not surprising 49ers' coaches are planning to use Fred more as a roving linebacker in '83, to give him more freedom to rush from any place he sees fit. "With Fred's talents," says Defensive Coordinator George Seifert, "if we mix things up a little, maybe we'll catch someone offguard to create a little confusion with our movement and give Fred just that much more of an edge." Dean likes the idea: "A.J. Duhe of Miami and Ted Hendricks of the Raiders have both done this and I would really like to try it too. I'd like the freedom of it. It would be fun to try." Fred originally came into the NFL as the 2B (33rd player taken) draft pick of the San Diego Chargers in 1975. He played 85 games with San Diego before being traded to San Francisco (10-2-81) for a second round pick in '83 and the exchange of No. 1 drafting positions with the Niners in that same draft.

COLLEGE: Fred was an All-Southland Conference linebacker all four of his years at Louisiana Tech in Ruston, La., on a team that won 44 of 48 games.

PERSONAL: Born Frederick Rudolph Dean in Arcadia, La., he was a standout athlete at Ruston (La.) High School. Dean lives in San Diego during the offseason and Foster City during the season. An accomplished singer, he also writes poetry, loves to read (especially Shakespeare and Poe), and has a great sense of humor; for example, this is his response to weightlifting — "Every now and then, I get an urge to lift weights . . . and I just go somewhere and lie down until I get over it." To which Anthony Munoz of the Bengals once responded, "Still, he's the strongest guy I've faced."

Walt Downing • 62

CENTER-GUARD • MICHIGAN • 6TH YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 270 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-2 IN '78)

PRO: Not every player on every roster in the NFL is a starter. More than half of them are substitutes and many players spend much of their career in that role. Walt Downing is such a reserve for the 49ers. "He is a back-up at right guard (behind Randy Cross), left guard (behind John Ayers), and at center (behind Fred Quillan)," says Bill Walsh. "He has worked hard to improve and he is important to this team as such — a versatile back-up." During 1982, Downing also was an occasional starter: at right guard twice during preseason and in the season opener against the Raiders (9-12-82), at center twice during preseason, and at left guard at Denver (9-19-82). "That's my role," admits Downing. "I'm behind three outstanding players, three of the best in the league. I have to be able to spell them if called upon, and I need to keep improving my game to the point that I can push those guys." Walt has played in 74 of 76 games during his career (counting playoffs in '81) since being drafted in the second round of 1978 by the Niners as a guard. He started 14 of 16 games in '78 and was named to the UPI All-Rookie Team. In 1979, when Walsh took over, Downing was switched to center and has backed up the three interior line positions since then.

COLLEGE: Walt was an All-Big Ten selection as both a junior and a senior, and was co-captain (along with fellow 49er Dwight Hicks) on Michigan's Rose Bowl team as a senior. He also earned All-America honors for the Wolverines in 1977, as a center.

PERSONAL: Downing was born in Coatesville, Pa., and attended high school there. He earned his bachelor of science degree from Michigan in '78. He and his wife, Sue (former Susan R. Munt), have one daughter, Kristen Rae Downing (2-13-81), and call Los Altos, Calif., their home. His pro stats include two kickoff returns for 13 yards and one fumble recovery, all in 1978.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (16/14), 1979 (16/0), 1980 (14/0), 1981 (16/0), 1982 (9/2). Career (71/16); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/0).

DOWNING'S NFL HONORS: All-Rookie - 1978.

Keith Fahnhorst • 71

TACKLE • MINNESOTA • 10TH YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 273 • BORN: 2-6-52 • (D-2A IN '74)

PRO: "Oftentimes, recognition is a long time coming to offensive linemen," points out Bill Walsh. "This just may be the year Keith Fahnhorst finds his name on the Pro Bowl roster after missing by a few votes last year. He does not have a weakness — he is a solid performer, consistent every week, a good team leader, dependable. He is one of the better, all-around offensive tackles in professional football today." Fahnhorst, who was selected as an alternate for the 1983 NFC Pro Bowl Squad, was the team's 1982 NFLPA representative during one of the toughest years ever for such a job due to the 57-day players' strike, the shortened season, and the attempted defense of the 1981 World Championship by the 49ers. He has 130 games (98 starts) to his credit (counting playoffs) and has started 91 of the last 92 games, including the last 71 straight — dating back to an October 10th, 1978 game at Los Angeles. As a matter-of-fact, Keith has played in all but two Niners' games since being selected by San Francisco in the second round 1974 (as a tight end; he was moved to tackle during preseason his rookie season).

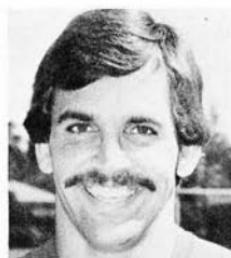

COLLEGE: Keith was an All-Big Ten tight end at Minnesota and played in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games. He played three seasons for the run-oriented Gophers and caught 28 passes for 416 yards and one TD. He was the team's top receiver as a senior in '73.

PERSONAL: Only Willie Harper has been a 49er longer than Fahnhorst. Keith was born in St. Cloud, Minn., and earned all-league honors in football, basketball, and track & field at St. Cloud Technical High. Keith and his wife, Susan, have two daughters — Tiffany Dawn (6-19-79) and Brittney Brook (5-13-81). His NFL stats include one pass reception for one yard and one kickoff return for 13 yards, both in 1975. He recovered two fumbles in '81, both by Ricky Patton (vs. Atlanta — 11-8, and vs. New York Giants — 11-29). Keith holds a psychology degree from the University of Minnesota. Brother Jim Fahnhorst is the middle linebacker for the Chicago Blitz of the USFL.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1974 (14/0), 1975 (14/3), 1976 (13/6), 1977 (14/14), 1978 (15/15), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), 1982 (9/9), Career (127/95); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3); Fumble Recoveries — 1974 (2), 1975 (1), 1977 (1), 1978 (1), 1981 (2), Career (7).

Ron Ferrari • 54

LINEBACKER • ILLINOIS • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 212 • BORN: 7-30-59 • (D-7 IN '82)

PRO: Ron Ferrari plays with reckless abandon. It is that simple. It's his trademark. He came out of college at Illinois with a reputation as a "kamikaze-type player" and has done nothing to change that image after one year in the NFL, hurling his body into play after play. Entering only his third "full" season at linebacker (he actually has only 20-some games to his credit at LB — 11 at Illinois and 13 in San Francisco) after playing fullback and halfback during his early college days, Ron will battle for a spot on the final roster as a Niners' nickel linebacker (to be used against passing situations) and on special teams. As a rookie, Ferrari worked his way into one of the nickel spots after injury claimed regular nickel backer Bobby Leopold.

COLLEGE: Ferrari was voted Illinois' Most Valuable Special Teams player his final two seasons with the Illini (by his teammates). He played fullback/halfback in 1979 and '80, before switching to linebacker for his senior season (1981). As a starting LB, Ron accumulated 83 tackles, including 34 solo stops. He also had eight tackles-for-loss totaling 27 yards, one batted down pass and one recovered fumble.

PERSONAL: A Dean's list student majoring in agriculture, Ron holds two degrees: a 1979 associate degree in science from Lakeland Community College in Mattoon, Ill., and a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics (1982) from Illinois. During the '82 57-day NFLPA strike, he returned to his hometown of Moweaqua, Ill., to help his family harvest corn and soybean crops. And, during the '83 offseason, he returned home and married college sweetheart Karen Nicholson (4-16-83), a standout swimmer at the universities of Alabama and Illinois. Ferrari was born in Springfield, Ill., but grew up in Moweaqua, and played four years of football (LB and FB) at Moweaqua High. His full name is Ronald Lee Ferrari. His recorded 40-yard dash time is 4.7. He initially made the Illinois squad as a walk-on running back. His NFL stats include two kickoff returns for 19 yards. Prior to the 1982 season, Ron earned his private pilot's license (despite his on the field reputation).

Russ Francis • 81

TIGHT END • OREGON • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 242 • BORN: 4-3-53 • (TRADE IN '82)

PRO: Not only did Russ Francis return from his one-year retirement in 1982, but he also took a giant step toward regaining his unofficial, but often acclaimed, title as "the world's greatest tight end." He started slowly, but by season's end, he was at full speed — finishing third in receiving for the 49ers (behind league-leader Dwight Clark and the NFC's No. 5 receiver, 49ers' RB Jeff Moore) with 23 catches, 278 yards, a 12.1 average and two scores. Not bad, considering his first catch didn't come until November (11-21-82 at St. Louis) in the first game following the strike. He averaged over three catches and more than 45 yards per game during the season's final six contests, including a career-best eight catches at Kansas City (12-26-82) in a sparkling performance that included 95 yards receiving. A lower back strain limited his training camp to just a few days and then the strike hampered his regular season progress (after a year off), but he finished strong enough to be listed as the starter at tight end entering the '83 summer camp. "When in sync, Russ is one of the premier tight ends in football, one of the great athletes in the NFL," says Bill Walsh. Francis was a first round draft choice of the New England Patriots in 1975 (16th player selected overall) despite not playing football his senior year at Oregon. He played six seasons for New England before retiring in 1981. Russ returned to the game in '82 when the Pats traded him to San Francisco (4-27-82) for the 49ers' No. 1 and No. 4 picks in the 1982 draft.

COLLEGE: Russ switched from quarterback — a position he played in high school — to tight end as a freshman at Oregon. He injured his ankle as a sophomore, but returned for an All-Pac 8 and honorable mention All-America junior season. Francis ranked third among Pac-8 receivers with 31 catches and 495 yards as a junior.

PERSONAL: Born in Seattle, Wash., Russ grew up in Hawaii. He attended Kailua High School near Honolulu and Pleasant Hill High in Oregon. He wrestled and played basketball and football at Kailua before his family moved to Oregon for his senior year. At Pleasant Hill, he took up track and field, too, and by season's end he had thrown the javelin farther than any American schoolboy in history — 259 feet, 9 inches. Francis also was drafted by the Kansas City Royals (4th round in baseball out of high school). Russ is licensed to fly helicopters and commercial multi-engine airplanes and enjoys doing so in his offseason homeland of Hawaii. His full name is Russell Ross Francis. He's had three 100-yard-plus games in his NFL career.

"Name" Backfields

The San Francisco 49ers have been known for their "name" backfields. From 1954 through 1956 it was "The Million Dollar Backfield" of Y.A. Tittle, Joe Perry, Hugh McElhenny and John Henry Johnson. Then, in 1960, came "The Alphabet Backfield" of Y.A. Tittle, J.D. Smith, R.C. Owens and C.R. Roberts.

Rick Gervais • 24

SAFETY • STANFORD • 3RD YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 195 • BORN: 11-4-59 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: You just can't blame Rick Gervais (pronounced "Ger-vus") for wondering aloud about his fate in 1983. You see, as a rookie out of Stanford in 1981, he was released twice by the 49ers before finally making the roster. And last year, as the season came to a close, Gervais went so far as to earn his first NFL start. In his two seasons, Rick has played almost entirely on special teams but late last year he began to see increasingly more action from scrimmage. Now his sights are set on a starting job. "Rick will be competing for a starting job in our secondary in '83 and will be a factor in our nickel defense. He is an excellent all-around athlete who really helps us on special teams," says Bill Walsh. Gervais signed as a free agent with the 49ers in the spring following the 1981 draft and was: waived (8-18-81), re-signed (8-20-81), waived (8-24-81), and finally re-signed (10-29-81). By the time Super Bowl XVI rolled around, the 49ers were thankful they had given him one more chance. In that game, Rick had a fumble-forcing-tackle in the closing seconds of the first half (recovered by college teammate Milt McColl), which led to San Francisco's 20-0 halftime lead (Ray Wersching kicked a field goal on the next play).

COLLEGE: Rick was an All-Pacific 10 Conference honorable mention selection in 1979 and '80 at Stanford. He finished his senior campaign with 51 tackles (8th best on the team) and was named UPI honorable mention All-West Coast. Gervais also sprinted for Stanford's track team.

PERSONAL: Gervais played quarterback and defensive back at Bend (Ore.) High School and led his prep league in scoring and rushing. Rick rushed for 211 yards and three TDs in a game once. A sprinter on the Bend track & field unit, he placed third in the 220 (:21.6) and fifth in the 100-yard dash (:09.7) in the Oregon state championship meet. Archery, hunting, and backpacking are among his hobbies. Rick earned his industrial engineering degree from Stanford (6-14-82). He was born in Bend, Ore.

Willie Harper • 59

LINEBACKER • NEBRASKA • 10TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 215 • BORN: 7-30-50 • (D-2 IN '73)

PRO: He played in his first game as a 49ers' linebacker back on Sept. 16, 1973. His teammates sportively call him "Pops". He has been a member of the 49ers longer than any player on the 1983 roster.

But, when you think of the modern Niners, the name Willie Harper comes to mind, because all of his years in the league have done nothing to limit his brinksmanship on the playing field. Harper was drafted in the second round of '73 (the 41st player selected) and he celebrates his 11th season in the league this year (he missed the 1978 season on injured reserve). He has played in 121 games for the 49ers (including playoffs) and has started 88 of them under six different head coaches. Knee cartilage and ankle injuries hampered his 1982 play as he missed all of preseason and the two September games while on injured reserve. Harper came back and started the next four games, sat out Games 7 & 8, and managed to return as a starter for the finale against the L.A. Rams (1-2-83). "Willie seems fully recovered and highly motivated for the '83 season," says Bill Walsh. "He is ready to make a bid toward having his best season as a professional, and he's had quite a few."

COLLEGE: Harper was a two-time (1971 and '72) All-Big Eight and consensus All-America ('71 and '72) defensive end for Nebraska. He played running back and middle guard prior to moving to DE for the Cornhuskers. His Nebraska teams had outstanding records of 9-2 (1969), 11-0-1 (1970), 13-0 (1971), and 9-2-1 (1972). Willie played in the Senior Bowl after setting the Husker career mark for tackles with 178 (including 90 unassisted and 40 for losses totaling 258 yards).

PERSONAL: Born Willie Miles Harper in Toledo, Ohio, he was a football, basketball and track & field standout at J.W. Scott High School there. Willie and his wife, Roxanne, have five children — Terrell (8-30-66), Willie (10-1-72), Qiava (12-13-75), William (8-18-81) and Marcus (4-21-83), and make their home in Belmont, Calif. Willie has his B.S. degree in education (1973) from Nebraska. Harper missed the 1978 season because of a knee injury.

John Harty • 75

DEFENSIVE END • IOWA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 263 • BORN: 12-17-58 • (D-2A IN '81)

PRO: John Harty earned his first professional football start in 1982, and by season's end, had started seven times for the 49ers. Harty started the first four games at nose tackle in the 3-4 defensive alignment, Games 6 & 8 at right end, and Game 7 at right tackle in the 4-3 alignment. In 1983, the coaches are looking for John to compete for a starting role among the defensive ends — at left end. "John is a big, active athlete with good agility," says Bill Walsh. "He is an aggressive, relentless player who can become one of the better defensive ends in the NFL if he can improve his upper body strength and his consistency." Harty finished '82 as the team's No. 8 tackle with 31 total stops (20 solo/11 assists) and two-and-a-half sacks for 21 yards. "Experience is a real key in John's case," says 49ers' Defensive Line Coach Bill McPherson. "He needs to keep improving week-after-week." Harty was a 2A draft pick of the 49ers in 1981.

COLLEGE: John was named to several 2nd Team All-America squads in 1980 as a senior at Iowa (including UPI, NEA and College and Pro Football Newsweekly) and he earned All-Big Ten honors in each of his four seasons, including UPI 1st Team selection in '80. Harty had 58 tackles as a senior and 65 in his junior season. The '80 captain of the Hawkeyes, he played in the Blue-Gray and Japan Bowl games to top off his career, after 232 career tackles at Iowa.

PERSONAL: John and his wife, Monica, call Sioux City, Iowa, their offseason home, and have one son, Zachary (10-21-82), born last season. John was born in Sioux City, and was a standout in football, basketball, and track & field (winning two letters in each) at Heelan High there. He was all-state in prep football.

Dwight Hicks • 22

SAFETY • MICHIGAN • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 192 • BORN: 4-5-56 • (FA IN '79)

PRO: Dwight Hicks has set tall goals for himself in 1983. He wants to improve his play. "That's right," admits Hicks. "I want to improve my play from '82, even from the level I set for myself in 1981. I want to be the best in the NFL at my position." Those are steep goals, mighty steep, considering Dwight has led his teammates in interceptions each season since signing as a free agent in 1979 . . . already ranks among the all-time 49ers' top-five in career interceptions (5th with 21), career interception yards (4th at 374), and season interceptions (2nd with 10 in 1981) . . . is the team record holder for MOST INTERCEPTION YARDS, SEASON at 239 (1981), and LONGEST FUMBLE RETURN at 80-TD (at Washington - 10-4-81) . . . and was selected to the Pro Bowl following both the 1981 and '82 seasons. Hicks started all nine games in '82, giving him 48 consecutive starting assignments, dating back to Nov. 25, '79, and a game with the L.A. Rams (including playoffs). He paced the team last year in interceptions with three (8th in the NFC). Hicks was signed by the 49ers in '79 (10-24-79) after two other attempts at making it in the NFL. He was drafted by Detroit in the sixth round of 1978 and released (8-15-78); played in Canada (9-16-78 thru 10-14-78); signed with Philadelphia (12-28-78) as a free agent; and was released (8-28-79), before finally finding a home with San Francisco. "I think all of us feel very fortunate to have him around," praises Ronnie Lott. "Since I became a 49er in 1981, Dwight has always been there to lend a helping hand to his teammates. He and his play are keys to our success."

COLLEGE: Dwight was a four-year letterman at the University of Michigan, playing in 38 wins, two ties and only seven losses there. He was defensive captain for the '77 Wolverine team that played in the '78 Rose Bowl (49ers' teammate Walt Downing was the offensive captain). Michigan played in two Rose Bowls and an Orange Bowl during Hicks' tenure in Ann Arbor. He was named All-Big Ten in 1977.

PERSONAL: Hicks was born in Mount Holly, N.J., and grew up in Pennsauken, N.J. He attended Pennsauken High School and was a standout in football, basketball and baseball. Dwight and his wife (formerly Josefa Salinas) have one daughter, Paress Salinas-Hicks (7-11-81); make their home in Palo Alto, Calif.; and have been involved in professional modeling. He also has interests in broadcast journalism as an offseason profession and as a future career.

Bob Horn • 55

LINEBACKER • OREGON STATE • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 230 • BORN: 2-6-54 • (TRADE IN '82)

PRO: Bob Horn was probably the most consistent defensive player on the 49ers' roster in 1982. A preseason acquisition from San Diego (6-9-82), Bob was an excellent addition to the squad last season as he finished third among 49ers' linebackers in tackles with 38 (25 solo/13 assists), behind Jack Reynolds and Keena Turner. "Bob is a dedicated player with good stamina and leadership qualities who came in and took over the inside linebacker position on the weak side," says Bill Walsh. "He played well in '82 and it should be difficult to move him out of his starting position in 1983." A 4A pick by San Diego in 1976 (94th player selected overall), Horn was the only player on the Chargers to start every game for his team during 1978, '79 and '80 (49 consecutive contests). He spent six seasons in San Diego before the trade to San Francisco.

COLLEGE: Horn was named team MVP and earned All-Pacific Coast honors at Oregon State in 1975 when he recorded 163 tackles (117 solo/46 assists). Bob played in the Blue-Gray Classic and the East-West Shrine Game to top off a fine Beaver career. He also put the shot for the OSU track team with a personal best of 53-2.

PERSONAL: He was born Robert Allen Horn in Salem, Ore., and is one of four children (he has three sisters). His parents both work for Pacific Northwest Bell in Salem. Horn attended South Salem High, and is married to his "childhood friend and sweetheart" Cyndee. Bob is an old film buff (Humphrey Bogart films and early comedies), has a degree in horticulture (BA-'76) from Oregon State, and loves sculpting as a hobby.

Cody Jones • 96

DEFENSIVE END • SAN JOSE STATE • 9TH YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 255 • BORN: 5-3-51 • (TRADE IN '83)

PRO: When Cody Jones arrived at the 49ers' mini-camp in May, it was like a reunion. Among the first players he saw were Jack Reynolds, Charle Young and Wendell Tyler, all former teammates on the L.A.

Rams. "I think I'm going to like it here," said Jones. And, if he plays anything like he did for the Rams over the years (especially against the 49ers), Niners' fans are going to like him here as well. Jones was acquired (along with Tyler and an '83 draft pick used to select Blanchard Montgomery of UCLA) in late April (4-25-83) for two '83 draft choices (2nd round/36th pick & 4th round/87th pick) following eight years with the Rams. A fifth round draft pick (129th overall selection) in 1973 by the Rams, Cody spent his first six seasons as a defensive tackle in L.A., before being switched to defensive end in 1981 (and, then, being traded to S.F. in '83). His best sack season was seven-and-a-half in 1978 and he was selected for the Pro Bowl following that campaign. He helped the Rams get to the NFC Championship Game in 1974, '75, '76 and '78 (he was on injured reserve all of '79 and was on the Rams' taxi squad in '73).

COLLEGE: Jones played football at Trinidad (Colo.) State JC as an all-conference defensive tackle before finishing up his career at San Jose State. Cody, who also played basketball at Trinidad, capped off his Spartan career with an East-West Shrine Game appearance.

PERSONAL: He was born Cody C. Jones in San Francisco and attended Mission High in The City. Cody and his wife, Nina, live in Huntington Beach, Calif., with sons Cody Jr. (10-14-79) and Travis Michael (11-30-81).

Three members of San Francisco's "Million Dollar Backfield" of the mid-1950s are enshrined in Pro Football's Hall of Fame. They are Y.A. Tittle, Joe Perry and Hugh McElhenny. Another member of that same team, tackle Leo Nomellini, is also a member of the Hall of Fame.

Ed Judie • 50

LINEBACKER • NORTHERN ARIZONA • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 235 • BORN: 7-6-59 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: "Ed Judie has his best years ahead of him in the NFL," says Bill Walsh. "Since he is just learning the game as a professional, and he has a lot of ability, he can only improve with time and experience." Walsh could have added . . . "and by staying injury free" . . . since injuries have hampered his progress throughout his career. Judie, who signed as a free agent (5-4-81) following the 1981 NFL draft, was sidelined some of '82 due to injury after sitting out the entire '81 slate on the injured reserve list. He did play in seven '82 games (including two as a starter) and ended with 18 tackles (15 solo/3 assists). And, the more he played, the better he played. "He made progress every practice, every game, every week," says 49ers' Linebackers Coach Norb Hecker. "If he can stay away from injuries, he could be an outstanding player in a year or two; and he could become a starter this season."

COLLEGE: Ed was an All-Big Sky and Little All-America at Northern Arizona University, despite injuries (knee and broken foot). His year-by-year tackle totals were: 1977 - 83 (37 solo/46 assists), 1978 - 41 (19 solo/22 assists) in only five games after breaking a foot early in the year, 1979 - 113 (47 solo/66 assists), and 1980 - 57 (21 solo/36 assists) in only four games as the year was cut short by a knee injury. As a freshman, Ed had a record nine tackles-for-loss performance against Cal Poly-Pomona.

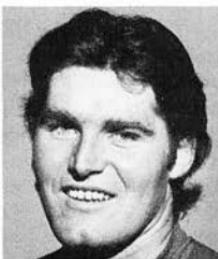

PERSONAL: He was born Edward Charles Judie in Tyler, Tex., and grew up in Tempe, Ariz. He was a two-sport (football and basketball) standout at Tempe High and earned all-state honors in both. Ed and his wife, Beverly, call Tempe home but spent the 1983 offseason in the San Francisco Bay Area while Ed was working out.

Allan Kennedy • 66

TACKLE • WASHINGTON STATE • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-7 • WT: 275 • BORN: 1-8-58 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Allan Kennedy does not want history to repeat! He just wants to stay healthy and get another shot at playing offensive line for the San Francisco 49ers in 1983. Since signing as a free agent with the 49ers in September of '81, Kennedy has been healthy enough to play in only three regular season and three postseason games (that's just six games in two years). Kennedy originally was drafted 10B by the Washington Redskins out of Washington State in '81 and released. He was claimed as a free agent by San Francisco (9-9-81) and immediately placed on injured reserve (9-12-81) due to a hand injury (severed fingertip). He spent all but the final three games on injured reserve before being called up (12-3-81) to add depth to the offensive line. He saw most of his playing time on kicking teams. During the '82 offseason, he prepared like never before, but an ankle injury the first day of training camp ended his '82 hopes as he spent the entire year on injured reserve. He has prepared well once again, and this time, he hopes history doesn't repeat.

COLLEGE: Kennedy earned 2nd team and honorable mention All-America honors his last two years at Washington State University. A five-year player who was redshirted in 1977 after tearing ankle ligaments versus Michigan State, Kennedy started all four of his seasons with the Cougars. An All-Pac 10 (1979) and All-West Coast selection in '79 and '80, Allan was the 1980 team co-captain and played in the Japan Bowl to finish off his WSU career.

PERSONAL: Allan was born a banker's son in Vancouver, BC, and has Canadian citizenship. He earned his criminal justice degree from WSU in June, 1981. He played three years of varsity football at El Camino Real High School in Woodland Hills, Calif., and was All-Valley, all-league, and 2nd team All-Los Angeles. Allan was also an outstanding shot putter at El Camino Real and was a scholar-athlete selection for both sports. He is single and lives in San Mateo, Calif.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1981 (3/0); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/0).

Pete Kugler • 67

NOSE TACKLE	•	PENN STATE	•	3RD YEAR
HT: 6-4	•	WT: 260	•	BORN: 8-9-59
				• (D-6 IN '81)

PRO: If you were to pick a Most Improved Player for the 49ers in 1982, it probably would have been Pete Kugler. He began the season on offense (out of team need, and because his college background proved he could handle it) as a reserve guard, but when Dwaine Board was injured in the opener, Pete made the switch back to defensive tackle. In his first game back (after spending most of training camp on offense) at Denver (9-12-82), he recorded two sacks for 11 yards in losses. On the season, Kugler started five times at either defensive end or nose tackle and played in seven games, total. He had 23 tackles by season's end (19 solo/4 assists) and was improving his game week-by-week. "It's easy to go back to defense," he explained. "Defense is instinctive, offense is learned. You've got to do it over and over. It's not going to come to you naturally." Bill Walsh is counting on Kugler to be a factor on defense in 1983: "He is a good competitor, a solid all-around athlete, who is extremely strong at the point of attack. He could become the full-time starter for us at nose tackle in '83." Kugler was a sixth round draft pick in 1981 from Penn State and played in 13 games on defense in '81. He did not get to play during the postseason due to a hamstring injury which forced him to the injured reserve list (12-3-81).

COLLEGE: Pete played both offense and defense for Penn State. He played his first two seasons as a back-up to All-America performers Bruce Clark and Matt Millen at defensive tackle before switching to offense in the spring of 1979. He started the first eight games on offense in '79 and the final three plus a bowl game on defense. Pete played DT his entire senior season. Penn State played in four bowl games during Kugler's tenure: Fiesta ('77), Sugar (following '78), Liberty ('79), and Fiesta ('80), and Pete played in the Hula and Japan bowls following his Nittany Lions' career.

PERSONAL: A native of Cherry Hill, N.J., Pete's father is the former New Jersey Attorney General under Governor William Cahill. He wrestled, played baseball, and earned All-America honors in football at Cherry Hill High School. He majored in finance at Penn State.

Amos Lawrence • 20

RUNNING BACK • NORTH CAROLINA • 3RD YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 179 • BORN: 1-9-58 • (TRADE IN '81)

PRO: This just may be the year that "Famous" Amos Lawrence lives up to his moniker. Amos thinks so, anyway: "I worked very, very hard this offseason with one main goal in sight — prove to the doubters that I can play this game professionally as well as I did in college. I don't care where I play, on special teams, on return teams, or in the backfield from scrimmage. I just want to play and help the team to the best of my ability." Lawrence has always played with verve, accented with big plays, and now he believes he is prepared for more big plays. Drafted by San Diego 4A (104th player selected) in 1981, the Chargers couldn't come to terms with Amos and he was traded to the 49ers (9-10-81) for a fourth round draft choice in the 1984 draft. The Niners then signed Lawrence but he was not activated until Game No. 4. He played mostly special teams in 1981 and '82, but did carry the ball 18 times in those two seasons for 55 yards. He has been most important as a kick return specialist, where he has ranked among conference and league leaders both seasons (2nd in NFC/3rd in NFL in '81 and 13th in NFC/24th in NFL in '82). He opened last season as the 49ers' starting halfback but eventually lost the job to Jeff Moore.

COLLEGE: Amos was the second runner in NCAA history to rush for at least 1,000 yards in each of four seasons (Tony Dorsett was the first). Lawrence had 4,391 career yards for the ninth highest rushing total in collegiate history. He had 24 100-yard-plus rushing days for North Carolina (the Tar Heels were 21-2 in those contests), and he ended his career as MVP in the East-West Shrine Game.

PERSONAL: Born Amos Lawrence Jr., in Norfolk, Va., he was Parade Magazine's National High School Back-of-the-Year following his senior season at Lake Taylor High School in Norfolk. He scored 49 TDs in 26 high school games for the Titans and rushed for 411 yards and five scores in a game once. Amos married the former Ponsella Brown (5-16-82).

Bobby Leopold • 52

LINEBACKER • NOTRE DAME • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 220 • BORN: 10-18-57 • (D-8 IN '80)

PRO: Now that he is healthy again — healed from the injury that hampered his play in 1982 — Bobby Leopold would like it known that "ole Black Shoes" is back for '83. That's good news for the 49ers, and it could be bad news for their opponents. "Bobby has been one of our best performers since he joined the 49ers (as an eighth round draft choice from Notre Dame in 1980)," says Bill Walsh, "and, he will battle in 1983 for an outside linebacker starting position and a regular nickel spot." Last year, Leopold appeared in six games and finished with just nine tackles (8 solo/1 assist) as he was plagued all season by a stress fracture in his lower leg. His '82 stats were a far cry from his average of 77 tackles per campaign from his first two seasons (including 1980 when he was named to the NFL All-Rookie Team). Leopold's nickname — Black Shoes — stems from just that: he is unique in that he wears black shoes while most of today's NFL players prefer to play in the flashier white shoes.

COLLEGE: Leopold was a four-year letterman at Notre Dame and accounted for 180 career tackles, including 66 as a senior. He had six career interceptions and returned three for TDs. Bobby played in the East-West Shrine Game in 1980 to top off his Fighting Irish career.

PERSONAL: Born Leroy J. Leopold, Jr., in Port Arthur, Tex., Bobby attended Lincoln High School in Port Arthur. He stood out in football (three-year captain), basketball and track & field, and was taught biology by his father, who also coached the offensive line on the grid squad. Leopold earned his economics degree in May of 1980 from Notre Dame and now calls Belmont, Calif., his home. Brother Rhonny is a freshman linebacker candidate at West Texas State.

Ronnie Lott • 42

CORNERBACK • SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 199 • BORN: 5-8-59 • (D-1 IN '81)

PRO: By most standards, 1982 was a pretty good year for Ronnie Lott. He made the NFC Pro Bowl roster, was second on the 49ers' club in tackles with 68 (51 solo/17 assists), led the team in passes defensed (18), picked off two passes for 95 yards and a score (2nd longest in 49ers' history — 83 yards at Kansas City — 12-26-82), was involved in a personal NFL-best 13 tackles vs. Atlanta (12-19-82), and set the club mark for MOST CAREER TDS ON INTERCEPTIONS at 4 (3 in '81 & 1 in '82). But for Lott, '82 was not good enough: "I just didn't play up to the standards I've set for myself. I want every year to be like my rookie year and better. I've got to give it all I've got every play of every game, every year." He gave himself a tough act to follow from '81 when he finished runner-up in NFL Rookie-of-the-Year honors and made every conceivable all-star team from All-Rookie to All-Pro. Ronnie finished second on the 49ers that year with 89 tackles (52 solo/37 assists) and had seven interceptions (6th in the NFC & 7th in the NFL) for 117 yards and three scores. During the '81 playoffs, Lott added 16 tackles, two interceptions and a TD. Not counting his postseason score, Lott became only the second rookie in league annals to accomplish the feat of three interception returns for TDs (Lem Barney did the same thing for Detroit as a rookie in 1967). And only two other players in pro football history have had more than three thefts for TDs in a season — Ken Houston of Houston in 1971 and Jim Kearney of Kansas City in '72 — and they had just four. With four in his career already, Lott ranks among the top-ten in NFL history. Sports columnist Jim Murray probably summarized Ronnie best in an '82 piece: "It's a classic case of a double life. By day he is handsome, personable, the boy next door, honest and dependable, a model young man, literally and figuratively. Then on weekends, it all changes; he's in law enforcement. He keeps the San Francisco 49ers' end zone free from unwarranted intrusions. Ronnie Lott separates footballs from people. Or vice versa. He is All-Pro on and off the field."

COLLEGE: Lott was a consensus All-America before being the eighth player selected in the 1981 NFL draft. The All-Pac 10 performer was USC's 1980 MVP and Most Inspirational Player. He had 86 tackles in 1980, 250 for his four-year Trojan career. He ranked second in the nation and No. 1 in the Pac-10 in '80 with eight interceptions for 166 yards (giving him 14 for his career, two for TDs). He also had three fumble recoveries (10 in his career) and 16 defensed passes (37 in his career) during his senior season. In addition, Lott played basketball for the Trojans as a junior in 1979-80. He topped his grid career with appearances in the Hula and Japan bowls.

PERSONAL: Ronnie was born in Albuquerque, N.M., and earned his public administration degree from USC in 1981 (in four years). A product of Rialto, Calif., and Eisenhower High School there, he was an All-Citrus Belt League pick at three different positions (defensive back, quarterback, and wide receiver). Lott also was all-league in basketball (three years) as a guard and two years in baseball (shortstop). As a senior, he was Citrus Belt League Player-of-the-Year and unanimous All-America. He is single and lives in Santa Clara. He is listed in "The American Bachelors Register" (1982, by the editors of Playgirl Magazine) among the country's "Most Eligible 100." And "Man Watchers, Inc." went one better in naming Ronnie among "The Ten Most Watchable Men of 1982."

Retired Jerseys

The San Francisco 49ers have officially retired six jerseys in their 32-year history. Those retired are, in order of their retirement, No. 34, Joe "The Jet" Perry; No. 39, Hugh McElhenny; No. 73, Leo Nomellini; No. 12, John Brodie; No. 70 Charlie Krueger; No. 37 Jimmy Johnson.

Lindsey Mason • 78

TACKLE • KANSAS • 5TH YEAR
 HT: 6-5 • WT: 275 • BORN: 8-1-55 • (TRADE IN '82)

PRO: Lindsey Mason owns a world championship ring styled differently from those of his offensive line running mates — Ayers, Quillan, Cross and Fahnhorst. His ring is one year older, and was earned during the 1980 campaign with the Oakland Raiders. He played in 1982, though, as if he'd been a 49ers' offensive lineman all his life. Mason played in all nine games, eight as a starter (following his trade from Oakland for two future undisclosed Niners' draft choices — 9-6-82). A third round draft pick by the Raiders in 1978, Lindsey played three seasons (43 games) with Oakland, sitting out the entire '79 campaign on injured reserve with a knee injury.

COLLEGE: Lindsey was listed as the No. 3 tight end at Kansas at the start of his sophomore season, then switched to offensive tackle and started every game through his senior year. A three-year starter for the Jayhawks, he was named AP second team All-Big 8 in 1977.

PERSONAL: Mason was born in Baltimore, Md., where he attended Carver High and lettered in football, basketball and track & field. He played tight end and defensive end in football and earned All-Metro honors. An All-Metro center in basketball, Lindsey also ran the 440 and the high hurdles in track and competed in the state championships. He is married (Sandra) and lives in Oakland. Among his NFL stats is a kickoff return for 12 yards in '78. His brother, Paul, is a linebacker candidate at the University of California this fall.

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (16/0), 1979 (injured reserve), 1980 (16/0), 1981 (11/3), 1982-San Francisco (9/8), Career (52/11).

Milt McColl • 53

LINEBACKER • STANFORD • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 230 • BORN: 8-28-59 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: "Milt is an outstanding special teams player who is capable of being a starting outside linebacker," says Bill Walsh. "We are expecting Milt to improve from 1982 to '83 just as dramatically as he did from his rookie year to '82." McColl's 1982 stats included 20 tackles in nine games (one more tackle in seven fewer games than his '81 stats of 19 tackles). He started the two '82 games that preceded the 57-day players' strike. Milt was one of three non-drafted rookie free agents to make the 49ers' 1981 world championship team (current 49ers' defensive back and former Stanford teammate Rick Gervais was also one of the trio). One of the feature plays of Super Bowl XVI saw Milt recover a fumble (knocked loose by Gervais) on a kickoff as the first half came to a close (the half ended on the next play as Ray Wersching booted a field goal for the 20-0 San Francisco lead).

COLLEGE: McColl was an Academic All-America selection in 1979 and '80 and 2nd Team All-Pac 10, UPI honorable mention All-West Coast, and The Sporting News honorable mention All-America in 1980 at Stanford. He played in the Hula and Japan Bowls to finish off his Cardinal career. He skipped spring football his senior year to study at Stanford's overseas campus in Cliveden, England, and Florence, Italy.

PERSONAL: One of eight McColls to attend Stanford University, Milt was born in Oak Park, Ill. He was honorable mention All-America and All-CIF at South Hills High School in Covina, Calif. He captained his prep basketball team and earned all-league honors in track and volleyball. McColl was valedictorian of his high school class and was named San Gabriel Valley Scholar-Athlete-of-the-Year. His mother (Barbara '53) and his father (Bill '52) and several brothers and sisters are Stanford grads. Milt graduated on-time in human biology at Stanford and attended Stanford Medical School while playing with the 49ers in 1981 and '82. His father was an All-America end in 1950-51 and his brother (Duncan) was an All-America defensive end in 1976 for Stanford. The senior McColl played with the Chicago Bears and Duncan played briefly in the NFL with the Washington Redskins. During the past offseason, Milt married his collegiate sweetheart, Cindy Emanuels (3-2-83).

Dana McLemore • 43

KICK RETURNER-CORNERBACK • HAWAII • 2ND YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 183 • BORN: 7-1-60 • (D-10A IN '82)

PRO: Dana McLemore proved to be an astute tenth round draft choice in 1982 since he finished his rookie year ranked among the league's best in kick and punt return statistics. Dana's 1982 stats included 16 kickoff returns for 353 yards and a 22.1-yard average (10th in the NFC/20th in NFL) and seven punt returns for 156 yards and a 22.3 average — the best average in the league (though he was listed among "non-qualifiers" because he was two returns shy of the minimum to qualify). However, his 156 yards on nine returns still would have given him an '82 NFL-high 17.3 average. A season highlight came in the finale when he returned a punt 93 yards for a score against the Rams. That gallop was one-yard shy of the team record and the longest of the season in the NFL.

COLLEGE: McLemore was a return specialist who doubled as a defensive back at Hawaii, too. He was a four-year starter at cornerback for the Rainbows (41 games) and totaled 180 tackles (140 solo/40 assists). He had 41 initial hits and five assists in 1981 as a senior All-Western Athletic Conference pick. He returned 31 punts for 261 yards and an 8.4 average in '81 with a long of 51 yards.

PERSONAL: Dana was born in Los Angeles and grew up in Southern California. He was a standout athlete at Venice High School. He was a flanker, defensive back, punter (46.4 average), and back-up kicker for PATs and kickoffs in his senior season. He carried the ball 73 times for 392 yards and five scores, caught 21 passes for 386 yards and five TDs, and had 33 tackles (24 solo/9 assists) and three interceptions on defense. He has a 4.49 clocking in the 40-yard dash.

"The Lion" Honored

Former San Francisco 49er tackle Leo "The Lion" Nomellini is a member of Pro Football's Hall of Fame, but he also has another distinction. He is the only player ever to make All-Pro both on offense and defense since two-platoon all-stars have been selected. Nomellini was an All-Pro choice on offense in 1951 and 1952, then switched to defense and was an All-Pro selection in 1953, 1954, 1957 and 1959. Leo also played in 10 Pro Bowl games, two on offense, eight on defense.

Jim Miller • 3

PUNTER • MISSISSIPPI • 4TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 183 • BORN: 7-5-57 • (D-3A IN '80)

PRO: Will it be one shoe on or one shoe off for Jim Miller in 1983? Only he knows for sure and when asked that question at press time, Miller wasn't even certain: "You know what? I don't really know," was his reply. For awhile last year, I thought it felt better with shoes, but I just don't know now." The NFL's only barefoot punter, Miller tried his trade with both shoes on at Kansas City on a cold Missouri afternoon in December (12-26-82). The results were mixed as his first attempt was blocked (it was the first time in his life that he had a punt blocked), while he boomed the second try 49 yards later in the game. A week later, in the season finale against the Rams (1-2-83), Jim's average was only 31.2 on six kicks, his lowest of the season. On the year, Miller kicked 45 times for a 38.1 average on 1,676 yards, the lowest average of his four-year pro career. Jim enters 1983 as the club's No. 4 all-time punter with 8,686 yards (just 131 yards behind No. 3 Steve Spurrier) and he ranks seventh in career average (40.6). He was San Francisco's 3A draft choice in 1980, following a brilliant career at Ole Miss, and was the NFL's Rookie Punter-of-the-Year in '80. A highlight to his '82 efforts came at Denver (9-19-82) when he kicked a personal-best 80-yard punt, the club's fourth longest in history.

COLLEGE: Jim was a consensus All-America in 1979 for the Ole Miss Rebels. He averaged 43.4 yards per punt for four seasons at Mississippi and set school records for most punts (266) and yards (11,549) in a career. Miller led the SEC in punting in his junior and senior seasons with averages of 43.2 and 44.6, respectively, and his sophomore average was a whopping 45.9, both SEC and Ole Miss records. His 3,283 yards (on 76 punts in 1978) also was a Mississippi mark. Jim ranked No. 1 in the nation in 1977, No. 5 in '78 and No. 3 in '79. He was All-SEC his final three seasons and was All-America (College and Pro Football Newsweekly, 2nd team Football News, and honorable mention by The Sporting News) in 1978 to go with his consensus honors in '79.

PERSONAL: He was born James G. Miller in Ripley, Miss., where he still makes his offseason home. Jim attended high school in Ripley before going on to the University of Mississippi. Jim has punted barefoot all his life . . . as he usually roamed his family farm barefoot, and kicked various items around that way, including footballs, so the story goes.

Joe Montana • 16

QUARTERBACK • NOTRE DAME • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • WT: 195 • BORN: 6-11-56 • (D-3 IN '79)

PRO: Joe Montana's "clips and information" file in the 49ers' public relations office is easy to spot. It's the thick one, the one that takes up enough space for a dozen files. It's bigger than Y.A. Tittle's, John Brodie's, O.J. Simpson's, et al. A couple of years ago that wasn't so, but over the past two seasons Montana has been one of the most successful players in the NFL. His dazzling two-year, 28-game (counting playoffs) statistics include: 42 passing TDs, four rushing scores, 580 completions in 922 attempts for a .629 percentage and 6,925 yards (7.5 average per attempt, 11.9 per completion, and 247.3 per game), and 67 carries for 217 yards (3.2 average per rush). Obviously his career is off to a great start as Joe owns the finest first four seasons by any 49ers' quarterback in history, and his performance during that span ranks among the finest four-year career totals in league annals. Since 1980, he has ranked among NFL leaders in: completion percentage with his marks of .645 (1980, No. 1 in NFL), .637 (1981, No. 1 in NFL), .616 (1982, 5th in NFC/7th in NFL); and NFL quarterback ratings with 87.8 ('80, 4th in NFC/5th in NFL), 88.2 ('81, 1st in NFC/4th in NFL), and 87.9 (3rd in NFC/5th in NFL). He also has been among the leaders in yardage gained passing during the past two campaigns with 3,565 in '81 (4th in NFC/8th in NFL) and 2,613 in '82 (1st in NFC/2nd in NFL). In 1982, Montana paced the NFC in TD passes with 17 (he shared the NFL lead in that category with Dan Fouts of San Diego and Terry Bradshaw of Pittsburgh), and set an NFL record by throwing for 300-or-more yards in five consecutive games: Denver (336), St. Louis (408), New Orleans (334), Los Angeles (305), and San Diego (356). His record skein was set against San Diego. Ironically, Chargers' QB Dan Fouts held the previous mark of four-in-a-row. During that run, Joe shattered the 49ers' club mark of 371 passing yards — set by Y.A. Tittle (12-13-53) three years before Joe was born — with 408 yards at St. Louis (11-21-82). He kept one professional standard intact as he threw for more TDs than interceptions for the fourth straight season a year ago. In 1982's short, nine-game slate, Montana completed 50 third-down passes (more than 20 to Dwight Clark, including five for scores) and 35 of them were good for first downs (six for touchdowns). In 1981, Montana completed 60 third-down passes for first-downs (23 of them to Clark) and clicked on 12 third-down passes for first-downs in postseason play. Joe's long pass of 1982 was 55 yards, and he did it twice in one game — at St. Louis (11-21-82).

MONTANA, Cont.

— hitting Jeff Moore and Renaldo Nehemiah. He had a pair of three-TD performances in '82 — at St. Louis and vs. San Diego — giving him five such efforts in his career. For his St. Louis performance, Joe was selected NFL Offensive Player-of-the-Week by Pro Football Weekly. The MVP of Super Bowl XVI and 1981 NFL Co-MVP (with Ken Anderson of Cincinnati), Joe underwent arthroscopic surgery on his left knee during the past offseason to repair minor cartilage damage.

COLLEGE: Montana turned down several scholarship offers and was set to go to North Carolina State on a basketball ride before Notre Dame offered him a football scholarship. During his Fighting Irish career, Montana completed 260 of 515 passes (.522 percent) for 4,121 yards and 25 touchdowns. As a senior, he completed 141 of 260 passes (.542 percent) for 2,010 yards and ten TDs, and earned national acclaim in the Cotton Bowl when he guided Notre Dame to a grand comeback against Houston. Montana brought the Irish back from a 34-12 deficit midway through the fourth period to a 35-34 win with no time showing on the clock. Notre Dame won the national championship with Joe at quarterback in 1977. He redshirted in 1976 and didn't start a full season until '78 (Joe once calculated that he was the seventh string quarterback early in his collegiate career).

PERSONAL: Born Joseph C. Montana in New Eagle, Pa., Joe attended Ringgold High School in Monongahela and was a standout in basketball, baseball and football there. He is married (former Cathleen "Cass" Castillo), and the Montanas make their home in the foothills near Woodside, Calif. The name "Montana" is Italian ("My dad says there used to be a 'g' before the last 'n,'" says Joe). He calls Joe Namath (who hails from Beaver Falls, Pa., near Monongahela) his hero; and he earned his business administration/marketing degree from Notre Dame in December, 1978. Joe is one of three 49ers' candidates for the annual NFL Man-of-the-Year Award (sponsored by the Miller Brewing Co.) in 1983.

Jeff Moore • 25

RUNNING BACK • JACKSON STATE • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 196 • BORN: 8-20-56 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: "Moore of the same in '83" is being hoped for by 49ers' fans and coaches for Jeff Moore, the most productive running back on the 49ers' 1982 roster. Acquired in the spring of '82 as a free agent from the Seattle Seahawks (4-27-82), Jeff played in all nine games last season for San Francisco and started four times. He paced the team in rushing with 281 yards on 85 carries for a 3.3 average and four TDs (16th in NFC/32nd in NFL). He was second on the squad in receiving with 37 catches for 405 yards (10.9 average) and four more TDs (5th in NFC/14th in NFL, 5th in NFL among running backs). His 48 points on four rushing and four receiving scores placed him second on the team in scoring (5th in NFC/13th in NFL). Jeff was one of only seven free agents to make the 1982 49ers' roster and the only one to become a regular starter. When he scored three times in a special Thursday Night version of ABC's Monday Night Football at Los Angeles against the Rams, he became the first 49ers' player to do so since Paul Hofer did it in November of '78. Moore was selected by Seattle in the 12th round of the 1979 NFL draft as the 319th player taken overall and played in 32 games for the Seahawks before being released after two games (9-15-81) of the 1981 season. The Seahawks used Moore as a backup running back behind Sherman Smith and as a kickoff returner.

COLLEGE: Jeff was the MVP of the Southwestern Athletic Conference as a senior at Jackson State, and was named All-SWAC, Mutual Black Network All-America and national Offensive Player-of-the-Year. He rushed for 1,205 yards on 169 carries (7.3 average) and ten TDs as a senior, including 202 yards against Bethune-Cookman and three other plus-150 yard efforts.

PERSONAL: Moore was born in Kosciusko, Miss. (pronounced: "kozy-esko") and still calls that little town (population less than 9,000) his offseason home. He lettered in baseball, track and football at Kosciusko High and once gained 329 yards and scored five TDs in a single game. He is Jeff D. Moore and is not related to Jeff B. Moore, former wide receiver of the Rams. Jeff had four tackles (3 solo/1 assist) in '82.

Renaldo Nehemiah • 83

WIDE RECEIVER • MARYLAND • 2ND YEAR
 HT: 6-1 • WT: 183 • BORN: 3-24-59 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: As far as seasons go, 1982 was okay for Renaldo Nehemiah, but if you consider all the facts, 1982 should probably be listed under outstanding or impressive or some other such hyperbolic term for Skeets (as he is called by teammates and friends). Not only was it his rookie season, but it was his first attempt at football since his high school days back in 1976 and it was a strike-shortened, nine-game campaign at that. Renaldo still managed to show some savoir-faire in starting three of the eight games in which he played. He grabbed eight passes for 161 yards (20.1 average) and one score (a 29-yard TD in the season finale from Joe Montana 1-2-83). He had a long reception of 55 yards (at St. Louis — 11-21-82) and Cardinals' Coach Jim Hanafan was impressed: "The key play was third-and-18 when San Francisco got that 55-yard pass to Nehemiah. It turned the game around (and S.F. won 31-20)." The people who had to get Skeets the ball were impressed all season: "Renaldo is so fast that he almost outran my arm a couple of times," says Joe Montana, and Guy Benjamin adds: "I watched Renaldo improve each week, almost each practice. He is going to be a good one." Nehemiah spent most of the offseason battling to regain his amateur track status, but at press time had not met with any success in that area.

COLLEGE: Sought by colleges in three sports (football, basketball and track), Nehemiah selected the track program at the University of Maryland and did not play college football. In the fall of '77, he began rewriting the NCAA indoor and outdoor record books, and was ranked No. 1 in the world in the 110 meter hurdles from his first day on campus until turning his attention to pro football in April, 1982.

PERSONAL: Renaldo was born in Newark, N.J., and grew up in Scotch Plains, N.J., attending high school there. A high school quarterback, he was voted New Jersey's Prep Athlete-of-the-Year his senior year. Skeets set the world record in his specialty (the 110 meter high hurdles) with a 12.93

clocking at the Weltklass International Track Meet in Zurich, Switzerland, August 19, 1981. At the time he entered professional football, Renaldo held four world indoor hurdles marks: 50 yards (5.92), 60 yards (6.82), 50 meters (6.36) and 55 meters (6.89). He first broke the world record outdoors at the 1979 Bruce Jenner Classic at San Jose (Calif.) City College, running a 13.16. Some of his major wins include: 1978 — AAU; 1979 — NCAA (12.91w), AAU (13.19), Pan Am Games (13.20), World Cup (13.39); 1980 — AAU/TAC (13.49), US Olympic Trials (13.26). Skeets has won the past three U.S. Mens' Superstars competitions (an event staged for ABC TV by Trans World International each year in Florida). And it was at the 1982 Superstars event that Nehemiah was encouraged to give the NFL a try (by 49ers' Dwight Clark, Cincinnati's Cris Collinsworth and the Jets' Mark Gastineau).

William "Bubba" Paris • 77

TACKLE • MICHIGAN • 1ST YEAR
HT: 6-6 • WT: 295 • BORN: 10-6-60 • (D-2 IN '82)

PRO: William "Bubba" Paris has a lot to prove in 1983. The 49ers' first pick in the '82 NFL draft as a second round choice (29th player selected overall), Bubba was the first offensive lineman since Randy Cross chosen first by the 49ers in the annual NFL draft. Paris also was the first offensive lineman drafted in any round by Bill Walsh. (Cross was picked in the second round of 1976 as the 49ers' initial choice as a center out of UCLA.) Bubba enters 1983 still looking for his first NFL regular season assignment after a knee injury (in the preseason finale at Seattle — 9-3-82) sidelined him for the entire 1982 season. "If at his best physically in 1983 and in the future, Bubba can become one of the great tackles in the NFL. He appears to have made excellent progress on his rehabilitation and should be at 100 percent in 1983," says Walsh.

COLLEGE: Paris earned a bundle of honors for the Wolverines while starting the final 32 games of his Michigan career. He played in three postseason all-star bowl games (Hula, Japan, Olympia Gold) and earned Walter Camp All-America, 2nd team Academic All-America, College and Pro Football Newsweekly 2nd team All-America and All-Big Ten.

PERSONAL: Bubba was born in Louisville, Ky., and attended DeSales High School in that city. He was his high school's MVP, team captain, all-state and All-America. His nickname was given him by high school teammates who compared him to former All-NFL defensive end Bubba Smith. Paris was married (5-21-83) to the former Lynne Gray (originally from Kansas City, but a Bay Area resident when the two met) last spring.

Lawrence Pillers • 65

DEFENSIVE END • ALCORN A&M • 8TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 250 • BORN: 11-4-52 • (FA IN '80)

PRO: Lawrence Pillers learned long ago that sometimes you have to play hurt in the NFL, so he wasn't shocked and didn't complain while having to play with injuries all season long in 1982. "Lawrence never was 100 percent healthy during any of the 1982 campaign. With a return to health in '83, he should be a big factor in our pass rush," says Bill Walsh. Pillers played in all nine games (started five) and managed to finish tenth on the team tackles list with 27 (20 solo/7 assists), despite playing with a separated shoulder. He was second on the squad (behind Fred Dean) with three sacks for 19 yards, and he forced a fumble and recovered one (at Denver — 9-19-82). He also had three passes defensed in '82. Pillers originally was drafted by the New York Jets in the 11th round of 1976 as a linebacker (at 225) but came to camp that year at 250 with the same strength and speed (4.85 in the 40) and was moved to the line. "Pill" played in 62 games for the Jets before being released (9-23-80) by New York and claimed (9-25-80) by San Francisco in the fourth week of the 1980 season. Ironically, he had played for the Jets against the Niners the previous week.

COLLEGE: Pillers was small college All-America as an outside linebacker at Alcorn A&M. He led a defense that topped the nation against the run as a senior (his team allowed just 159 yards on the ground in 10 games). Alcorn won the Black National Championship that season, too. He was All-Southwestern Athletic Conference three times and finished with 12 blocked punts and 15 fumble recoveries in his career.

PERSONAL: Lawrence was born in Hazlehurst, Miss., and grew up as one of 13 children. He reports to having picked cotton, pecans, and beans, and hauled pulpwood "for pocket change" as a child. A former deputy sheriff during the offseason in Port Gibson, Miss. Pillers' most frightening moment did not happen on the field, but occurred one night in Port Gibson when he was called to a club where a man had "cut up a couple of guys" and was shooting up the roof, "I stayed out in the car (after answering the call) for a long time. I just sat there until I got up my courage to go inside. The man with the rifle was standing there, blood on him and everything." So Pillers pulled out his gun and kept it pointed at the suspect until he put down his rifle. Lawrence and his wife (former Carri L. Williams) have two daughters LaCuri (11-28-76) and LaVechelle (3-19-80), and a third child was expected in late summer. A 1976 health and physical education graduate of Alcorn A&M, he now calls San Mateo, Calif., his year-round home.

Pillers' Personal S.F. Bests — TACKLES — 9 (at Detroit — 9-6-81), SOLO TACKLES — 7 (twice: at Dallas — 10-12-80 & at L.A. Rams — 11-22-81), ASSISTED TACKLES — 4 (vs. Atlanta — 12-19-82), SACKS — 3 (vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee — 10-18-81), SACK YARDS — 22 (vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee — 10-18-81), FORCED FUMBLES — 1 (twice: vs. Dallas in the NFC Championship Game — 1-10-82 & at Denver — 9-19-82), FUMBLES RECOVERED — 1 (at Denver — 9-19-82).

Fred Quillan • 56

CENTER

OREGON

6TH YEAR

HT: 6-5

BORN: 1-27-56

(D-7 IN '78)

PRO: Fred Quillan owns a string of 67 consecutive starts, dating back to the 1978 season (including postseason games) entering the 1983 season. That should tell you something about his dedication, ability, and durability. "Fred is an excellent technician," says Bill Walsh. "He may be the most agile, active athlete along the offensive line and his ability, consistency and experience should give him a combination in 1983 that might bring him to the best football of his career." Quillan was selected in the seventh round of the 1978 draft by San Francisco. He earned his first start for the 49ers in Game 10 of 1978 (at Atlanta, 11-5-78), and has not come out of the line-up since. Fred received that initial starting nod in '78 when Randy Cross — then the team's center — was injured and had to sit out a portion of the campaign. Cross was moved to guard upon his return to good health (because Quillan was doing so well at center).

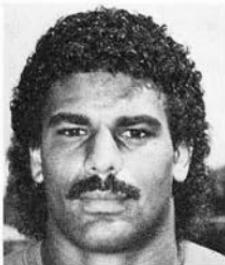

COLLEGE: Fred played several positions at Oregon and was named an All-West Coast center as a junior. He played mostly tackle during his senior season.

PERSONAL: Quillan was born in West Palm Beach, Fla., and grew up in Portland, Ore. He graduated from Central Catholic High School in Portland and was a three-sport athlete there. He originally was recruited as a tight end by the Ducks. He lives in San Mateo, Calif., all year long. His NFL stats include a kickoff return for eight yards in 1978. Fred got married (Susan) this past offseason (7-9-83).

STATS: Regular season games/starts — 1978 (14/7), 1979 (16/16), 1980 (16/16), 1981 (16/16), 1982 (9/9), Career (71/64); Postseason games/starts — 1981 (3/3).

Eason Ramson • 80

TIGHT END • WASHINGTON STATE • 5TH YEAR
HT: 6-2 • HT: 234 • BORN: 4-30-56 • (FA IN '79)

PRO: Eason Ramson is officially listed on the 49ers' roster and depth chart as the team's No. 3 tight end, but his true value to the Niners' is on special teams. He appeared in all nine games in 1982, mainly on special teams. His stats included two kickoff returns for 20 yards, five tackles (4 solo/1 assist), and two receptions for 27 yards. "Eason is a quick, active athlete with good receiving abilities. He has performed well when called upon at tight end, and has been very strong on our special teams," says Bill Walsh. Ramson originally was picked by Green Bay in the 12th round of the 1978 NFL draft, but was released (8-15-78) in training camp. He was signed as a free agent by St. Louis (8-24-78) that same summer and became the Cardinals' starter. Eason was placed on injured reserve (8-27 through 9-11) the following season, however, and was released by St. Louis (9-12-79). San Francisco signed him with two games remaining in '79 (12-6-79).

COLLEGE: Ramson was a four-year player at Washington State, where he was on the receiving end of passes thrown by Jack Thompson (Cincinnati and Tampa Bay). Eason's best year was his junior season with 41 receptions. He originally was recruited by the Cougars as a fullback.

PERSONAL: Eason was born in Sacramento, Calif., and attended Christian Brothers High School there. He and his wife (former Diana Taylor) have two sons — Eason L. (5-2-75) and Joshua (3-28-78). The Ramsons make their home in Foster City, Calif. Teammates have nicknamed Eason "Sweet Feet".

Jack Reynolds • 64

LINEBACKER • TENNESSEE • 14TH YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 232 • BORN: 11-22-47 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Talk football with Jack Reynolds, but don't talk age . . . that's a touchy subject. He even owns a t-shirt with the inscription: "Too old, too short, too slow . . . and can't cover anybody." He wears it for fun, just as he plays football . . . for the fun of it, for the love of the game. Nobody, it seems, loves football as much as this 14-year veteran. "Hacksaw" Reynolds enters 1983 in a similar stance as he has entered many of those 13 previous NFL campaigns: in the best shape of his life and as the club's defending tackle leader (he led the 49ers in 1981 with 117 tackles and in the shortened '82 season with 69). "I am coming into 1983 in the best shape I've been in for years and I come in ready to play as hard as I can. I think I can play four or five more years," admits Reynolds. Bill Walsh agrees: "Jack sets a standard of excellence for all defensive players and displays outstanding leadership through example play-after-play, game-after-game, year-after-year. He is one of the top linebackers in NFL history." Reynolds originally was drafted in the first round of 1970 by the Los Angeles Rams and spent 11 years with them, the last as a starting middle linebacker. He was named to the Pro Bowl twice (following the '75 and '80 seasons) and led the Rams in total tackles several seasons (including 1975, '76, '78, and '80). Jack started all 16 games in 1978, '79 and '80 with Los Angeles and finished with 120 (78 solo/42 assists), 144 (83 solo/61 assists), and 119 (81 solo/38 assists) tackles, respectively. The Rams released Jack (5-6-81) over a salary dispute and the 49ers signed him as a free agent (6-20-81).

COLLEGE: Reynolds was selected All-SEC and Football News All-America as a senior in 1969 and lettered three seasons (Tennessee's record was 9-2 in 1967, 8-2-1 in '68, and 9-2 in '69). The Vols played in three straight bowl games during Hacksaw's tenure — Orange, Cotton, and Gator. He earned the Simpson Theater Award as Tennessee's Outstanding Lineman in 1969 and played in the College All-Star Game in Chicago, Ill., and the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala., following that senior season. Jack picked up his nickname at Tennessee following a 38-0 loss to Mississippi in 1969 when he used 13 blades and a "Hacksaw" to cut a 1953 Chevy in half — out of pure frustration — following the loss. (See his own story in 1982 S.F. Media Guide for more information.)

PERSONAL: Born John Sumner Reynolds in Cincinnati, Ohio, Jack was a standout at Western Hills High School in Cincinnati before enrolling at Tennessee. He is married (Pat) and spent this past off-season at a new home that he and his wife built on San Salvador Island in the Bahamas. They also own a home in Huntington Beach, Calif., and Jack lives in Redwood City during the season. A true student of the game, Reynolds reportedly has a garage full of notes on opponents.

Bill Ring • 30

RUNNING BACK • BRIGHAM YOUNG • 3RD YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 205 • BORN: 12-13-56 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: He stands only 5-10, weighs just 205 pounds and because of his size, has heard every reason why he shouldn't make it in professional football. But Bill Ring stands tall on the list of NFL under-sized, over-achievers. He initially made the 49ers' 1981 world championship roster through his outstanding special teams play, but over the past two seasons, Ring has worked his way into more playing time from scrimmage as well. Ring earned himself starts in each of the final three games of '82 and finished second on the roster in rushing with 183 yards on 48 carries (28th in the NFC), third in kickoff returns with six for 145 yards and an outstanding 24.2 average, and seventh in receiving with 94 yards on 13 catches. Originally, Bill signed as a free agent with Pittsburgh (5-7-80), but was released in that team's final preseason cut (8-25-80). He signed with the 49ers a year later (4-14-81) as a free agent, but was placed on injured reserve (8-17-81) after severely cutting his hand in a collision with teammate Freddie Solomon during a warm-up exercise on Family Day at summer training camp. He was activated a month later (9-18-81), was waived (9-22-81) to make room for Amos Lawrence (acquired in a trade with San Diego), and was resigned three weeks later (10-7-81), this time to stay.

COLLEGE: Bill played two years at San Mateo JC before transferring to BYU, where he rushed for 782 yards, averaging 4.5 yards per carry. He was the MVP of the 1979 Japan Bowl.

RING, Cont.

PERSONAL: Ring was born in Des Moines, Iowa, and grew up in California. He attended Carlmont High School in Belmont and today calls San Mateo, Calif., his home. He earned his degree in finance from BYU in April, 1980. Ring is involved in many fund raisers and willingly gave of his time for more than 100 charities each of the past two offseasons. He is a candidate for NFL Man-of-the-Year honors in 1983 (sponsored by the Miller Brewing Co.).

Freddie Solomon • 88

WIDE RECEIVER • TAMPA • 9TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 188 • BORN: 1-11-53 • (TRADE IN '78)

PRO: Freddie Solomon can match career stats with just about any active player in the National Football League. Entering his ninth year in the NFL (sixth with San Francisco), Fred has over 7,000 career yards in five offensive categories. He is one of the top all-purpose athletes in professional sports with 43 touchdowns and 7,311 yards (counting playoffs) under his belt in passing, rushing, receiving, punt returns and kickoff returns. After just five seasons with the 49ers, the all-around talent from Tampa already ranks among the career greats in San Francisco for punt returns (6th), receiving (7th), scoring (11th), passing (21st), rushing (41st), and kickoff returns (57th). He has had more than a dozen plays over 50 yards in his career, and in a single game in Miami against Buffalo (12-5-76), Solomon put together an amazing 252-yard, three-TD performance as he exploded 79 yards on a punt return, outfought two defenders for a 53-yard pass reception (one of five catches for 114 yards), and raced 59 yards on a flanker reverse for his three scores (totaling 191 yards). Last year in nine games (seven as a starter), Solomon's stats included: 19 receptions for 323 yards and a 17.0 yard average (2nd best average on the squad) and 13 punt returns for 122 yards and a 9.4 yard average (2nd best on the roster, 4th in the NFC, and 9th in the NFL). His first two pass receptions of the season were good for scores (18 yards vs. L.A. Raiders — 9-12-82 & 46 yards at Denver — 9-19-82). That Denver contest was the tenth 100-yard effort (4 catches, 109 yards) of his career. Solomon originally was drafted 2A by Miami in 1975. He played three seasons for the Dolphins before coming to San Francisco with Vern Roberson and two draft picks for Delvin Williams prior to the 1978 campaign. In 1980, he became the first 49er in history to return two punts for scores in a single season and was named All-NFC as a punt returner by Pro-Football Weekly.

COLLEGE: Solomon played quarterback at the University of Tampa for four years (1971-74), rushing for 39 TDs and passing for 11 others during his career. He had 17 games with 100-or-more-yards rushing and his career totals were 3,299 yards on 557 carries and 2,504 yards on 188 completions in 436 attempts. He played in the College All-Star Game in Chicago in '75.

PERSONAL: Freddie was born in Sumter, S.C., and attended Sumter High School. He and his wife (former Delilah Jeffers) split their offseason time between their homes in Redwood City, Calif., and Tampa, Fla. He once had an amazing 252-yard, three TD game against Buffalo (1976) when he scored on a 79-yard punt return, a 59-yard flanker reverse, and a 53-yard pass reception for the Miami Dolphins. Over the past few years, Freddie has

Len Eshmont Award

Dwight Clark, the 1982 NFL leader in receptions with 60, gained the San Francisco 49ers' most prestigious annual honor in '82 — the Len Eshmont Award by a vote of his teammates.

The award is given each year to the 49ers' player that best exemplifies the "inspiration and courageous play of Len Eshmont," an original Forty Niner from the '46 team, who later coached at Navy and Virginia before dying suddenly in 1957.

For more information on Dwight Clark, the '82 Len Eshmont Award winner, see his bio elsewhere in this guide.

become more and more involved with charitable organizations and his favorite charity is the National Kidney Foundation. He sponsors celebrity golf tournaments in both California and Florida (and this past off-season those two events grossed nearly $40,000 together), among other fund raisers, for NKF each spring. Fred earned his P.E. degree in April, 1975, from Tampa. He was selected 49ers' NFL Man-of-the-Year for 1982 (sponsored by Miller Brewing Co.) as the team's "outstanding citizen-athlete." He is a candidate again in 1983 for these same honors.

Jeff Stover • 72

NOSE TACKLE • OREGON • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-5 • WT: 275 • BORN: 5-22-58 • (FA IN '82)

PRO: Jeff Stover turned out to be a pleasant surprise in 1982, and the 49ers can thank one of their own — former tackle Leon Donohue — for it. Stover is another track-and-field standout (like Renaldo Nehemiah) with no collegiate football experience trying to make it in the NFL. And, if '82 is an indication, he might just make it in grand style. He played in all nine games (started the finale) and finished the season with four solo tackles, two sacks for 13½ yards (4th on the team), and a fumble recovery. Not a bad rookie season, especially since it was his first grid slate since his schoolboy days at tiny Corning High near Red Bluff in Northern California back in 1975. In 1982, Stover was working as a carpenter, building houses in Chico, Calif., regretting never having played football beyond high school. He decided to find out if he could still play. Jeff asked Donohue, a friend and Shasta College football coach, to help. Donohue called Seattle first since the Seahawks were in Jeff's college "neighborhood," and they expressed an interest, but when Donohue called San Francisco, the Niners immediately paid his way for a tryout. "I ran a 4.7 40 for the 49ers, and the rest is history as they say," explains Stover. "It's the first time I've ever seen three clockers all get the same time, and all of them were afraid to say anything for fear they were wrong. I mean, we're talking about a guy 6-5, 275 pounds," related 49ers' General Manager John McVay.

COLLEGE: Jeff did not play football for the Ducks; instead he threw the hammer and put the shot for Oregon's perennially powerful track and field team. He still ranks third among the all-time Oregon shot putters (68-4½ personal record from 1980) and seventh among the career hammer throwers (193-1 PR from '79). Stover was a four-year letterman (1977-'80) in that sport in Eugene and won the Pac-10 shot crown as a sophomore (64-9½) and senior (64-1¾). He was fourth in 1979.

PERSONAL: Jeff Owen Stover was born in Corning, Calif., and attended high school there. He played fullback and defensive end at Corning High. He is married (Lori) and they make their offseason home in Chico, Calif. 49ers' veteran offensive tackle Keith Fahnhorst describes Jeff as "so damn strong, it's unbelieveable (he can "clean" 400 pounds — that's a weight lift from the floor to above the shoulders in one motion). I remember the first time I lined up from him, he shocked me with his quickness and strength."

Jim Stuckey • 79

DEFENSIVE END • CLEMSON • 4TH YEAR
HT: 6-4 • WT: 253 • BORN: 6-21-58 • (D-1B IN '80)

PRO: "Jim Stuckey played the entire 1982 season at less than 100 percent with a nagging hip injury, but he did the very best he could and that's all we can ask of any of our players," praises Bill Walsh. Stuckey played in all nine games (eight as a starter) and finished with 23 tackles (13 solo/10 assists) and a fumble recovery. His story was typical of many of the 49ers' defensive players for '82: "played hard, but played hurt." Jim's 23 tackles in the shortened season were just about half his normal season's average as he recorded 48 in 1980 and 49 in '81. After being drafted 1B (20th player selected overall) in '80, "Stuck" ignored an ankle injury and a hip pointer and the pressures that go with being a rookie starter in the NFL, to lead the squad in quarterback sacks with 8½ and earn All-Rookie honors. His second season was not bad either, highlighted by a "game saving" fumble recovery in the closing seconds of the 1981 NFC Championship Game with Dallas (1-10-82) — Danny White dropped back to pass and Lawrence Pillers forced the fumble as San Francisco clung to a 28-27 lead (with the Cowboys closing into field goal range as the final seconds ticked off the clock). Stuckey recovered the loose ball and the 49ers went on to Super Bowl XVI.

COLLEGE: Stuckey was a two-year All-America at Clemson and one of 12 finalists for the Lombardi Trophy in 1979. He was All-Atlantic Coast Conference three straight seasons and played in the Senior and Hula bowls following his career with the Tigers. In four seasons (he became a starter in the eighth game of his freshman year), Jim piled up 267 tackles (146 unassisted), 28 tackles-for-loss, four passes defensed, one fumble recovery, and one intercepted pass.

PERSONAL: Born in Columbia, S.C., Jim attended Airport High School in Columbia. He splits his time between Foster City, Calif., and Clemson, S.C. during the offseason.

Keena Turner • 58

LINEBACKER

PURDUE

4TH YEAR

HT: 6-2 • WT: 219 • BORN: 10-22-58 • (D-2 IN '80)

PRO: Keena Turner was named second team All-Pro (by NEA) in 1982 and his goal for '83 is to improve upon that honor. Bill Walsh, for one, thinks it is quite likely: "Keena is probably the best all-around athlete among our front defensive seven. His combination of experience and ability may give him the best year of his career in '83. If he re-dedicates himself in 1983, he could improve upon that recognition." Turner was third on the team in tackles in '82 (behind Jack Reynolds and Ronnie Lott) with 58 (his uniform number) and he had one sack for nine yards among his statistics as a nine-game starter. He has started 30 of the last 32 games (counting playoffs in '81), dating back to the 13th game of his rookie season (vs. New England - 11-30-80). Keena was drafted in the second round of '80 (behind two first round picks — Earl Cooper and Jim Stuckey) and finished his initial campaign with 48 tackles and two interceptions. During San Francisco's championship season, he started 14 times during the season and all three playoff games. During the past two campaigns, Turner has been the only linebacker that has not come out of the line-up when the 49ers have shifted into the nickel defense.

COLLEGE: Turner was a two-time All-America and an All-Big Ten pick as one of Purdue's tri-captains. The Boilermaker MVP as a junior, Keena's senior stats included 11 tackles against UCLA, ten tackles, two QB sacks and two forced fumbles versus Ohio State, and 11 tackles against Illinois. He had 57 tackles-for-loss totaling 345 yards during his three years as a starting defensive end and played in the Japan and Hula bowls following his Purdue career.

PERSONAL: Keena was born in Chicago, Ill., and is a product of Chicago's Vocational High School (CVS) — the same school that produced Dick Butkus (former Chicago Bears great). About his unique first name, Keena, explains: "My mother (Decy) named me after a little Indian boy on a TV program." Turner was married (6-12-82) to the former Therese Hopkins, his college girlfriend. When he had chicken pox during the 1981 playoffs, teammates joked with him: "Why don't you go line up in their huddle, not our huddle?" Keena's sideline routine in those games: "I just kept my helmet on and wouldn't look at the cameras. I looked awful."

Wendell Tyler • 26

RUNNING BACK • UCLA • 6TH YEAR
HT: 5-10 • WT: 200 • BORN: 5-20-55 • (TRADE IN '83)

PRO: Wendell Tyler, a thorn in San Francisco's side over the past few years, now is a 49er and coaches, teammates and fans are glad of it. And they're looking forward to viewing Tyler's outstanding talents first hand more often. "Wendell is precisely the player we have wanted to add to our attack for several years now," says Bill Walsh. He knows too well what Tyler can do to an opponent. In the past five meetings between the Rams and 49ers, Tyler scored nine TDs and average 84.8 yards rushing (424 total in five games), and 56.4 receiving (282 total) for an average of 141.2 yards per game (706 total). No player in the NFL matched Wendell's touchdown productivity of 30 scores over the past two seasons. He paced the NFC in '81 with 17 (2nd in the NFL to San Diego's Chuck Muncie with 19) and '82 with 13 (2nd in the NFL to Marcus Allen of the Raiders, who had 14). Wendell had 30 total TD's over that span as only Muncie was close behind with 28. Tyler's 17 TDs in '81 tied the all-time Rams' mark set by Elroy "Crazylegs" Hirsch in 1951. Wendell led L.A. in rushing (564 yards, 4.1 average) and receiving (38 catches, 375 yards) during the strike-shortened '82 slate. His career yardage of 3,266 ranks him sixth among the all-time Rams' rushers. A third-round draft choice out of UCLA for the Rams in 1977, Tyler saw only back-up duty as a rookie (his season was highlighted by a 102-yard/8 carry performance in a 35-3 Monday Night TV win over Minnesota). In 1978, he suffered a knee injury in the second game and spent the rest of the season on injured reserve, but came back to play in all 16 games in 1979. Wendell became the Rams' starter in Game No. 5 of '79 and finished the season with 1,109 yards. Injuries limited his play to just four 1980 games, but he came back again in '81 to gain 1,074 yards. The 49ers traded two 1983 draft choices (2nd round/36th pick & 4th round/87th pick) to L.A. for Tyler, Cody Jones and an '83 draft choice (3rd round/59th pick) the day before the NFL draft (4-25-83). Wendell signed a new three-year contract with the Niners June 21.

COLLEGE: Tyler gained 3,181 yards during his four-year UCLA career and was named AP All-America and All-Pac 8. He gained 172 yards in the Bruins' 23-10 win over Ohio State in the '76 Rose Bowl, including a 57-yard

TD run and capped his fine career with appearances in the East-West Shrine and Senior Bowl games

PERSONAL: He was born Wendell Avery Tyler in Shreveport, La., but moved to California at an early age and attended Crenshaw High School in Los Angeles. He and his wife, Carmen, call West Covina, Calif., (near L.A.) their offseason home. They have two children: a daughter, Candace (12-24-78), and son, Wendell Avery, Jr. (12-14-81).

Ray Wersching • 14

KICKER • CALIFORNIA • 11TH YEAR
HT: 5-11 • WT: 210 • BORN: 8-21-50 • (FA IN '77)

PRO: The 49ers' all-time "field goal accuracy" leader, having clicked on an outstanding .724 percent of his attempts over the past six years, Ray Wersching enters 1983 ready to move into the third spot on San Francisco's all-time scoring charts. The 33-year-old kicker ranks No. 4 in club history in scoring with 432 points (behind Bruce Gossett's 460 in 3rd). He also is No. 3 on the team's all-time field goal kicking charts with 89 made in 123 attempts (behind Gossett with 99 converted in 2nd place). Ray, who has led the team in scoring in each of the last five seasons (with 69, 92, 78, 81, and 59 points, respectively), has never been shut-out in the 82 games he has played as the 49ers' kicking specialist (counting three playoff games in '81). A highlight to his career probably came in San Francisco's 26-21 Super Bowl XVI win over Cincinnati (1-24-82) when Wersching had the Bengals backed up against the wall with his squib kickoffs and tied a Super Bowl record with four field goals (22, 26, 40, and 23 yards). His string of converted extra point kicks was snapped in 1982 (vs. San Diego - 12-11-82) after hitting 59 straight, dating back to the final game of 1980 (vs. Buffalo - 12-21-80) and covering 26 games. He recorded four perfect games in '82 (scoring: 5 points against the Raiders, 8 vs. New Orleans, 12 at the Rams, and 14 at Kansas City). He earned Pro Football Weekly's Golden Toe-of-the-Week award for his work at Kansas City when he was perfect on two PATs and four FGs (32, 44, 42, and 34). Originally, Ray was signed as a free agent by San Diego in 1973, released (9-6-76) in 1976, and re-signed (10-16-76) that same season. He was released by the Chargers again in August of '77 and signed by San Francisco (10-16-77) later that season. Wersching kicked a personal best 50-yarder in his first 49ers' appearance in 1977.

COLLEGE: Ray attended Cerritos JC and the University of California (Berkeley) and had outstanding careers at both schools.

PERSONAL: Born Raimund Wersching in Mondsee, Austria, he grew up in California and attended Earl Warren High School in Downey, Calif. He has a bachelor's degree from Cal in accounting and works in San Diego during the offseason as a CPA for Price Waterhouse Company. His nickname is "Mo" to teammates for the following reasons — take your pick: short for "Mo-chine" as in "Wersching Mochine" . . . or short for "La Mo-chine" as in his kicking is as automatic as a machine . . . or short for "Mo-hair" as in he has "Mo-hair" on his body than anyone else on the team. Ray had a rare distinction for a kicker in Super Bowl XVI by initiating five consecutive plays, each of which resulted in time elapsing on the game clock: Play 1 — 22-yard FG; Play 2 — kicked off, fumbled by Cincinnati; Play 3 — 26-yard FG; Play 4 — kicked off as first half ended; Play 5 — kicked off to begin second half.

Newton Williams • 45

RUNNING BACK • ARIZONA STATE • 2ND YEAR
 HT: 5-10 • WT: 204 • BORN: 5-10-59 • (D-5 IN '82)

PRO: One of two offensive backs named Williams drafted by the 49ers in 1982, Newton was listed on last season's roster as a running back but he saw most of his playing time on special teams during his rookie season. The 28th player selected in the fifth round (139th overall selection) of the '82 draft, Newton is no relation to Vince, the other Williams drafted by San Francisco a year ago. "Newt" played in six games last year before finishing the season on injured reserve due to a shoulder fracture. To start the season, he was waived in the final NFL cutdown (9-6) and recalled a few days later (9-9), following his preseason efforts of 24 yards in 13 carries at running back. His '82 stats included three solo tackles on special teams.

COLLEGE: Williams was a five-year gridder at Arizona State (he redshirted 1980 after an early season injury). His stats included 1,172 rushing yards and 255 receiving yards from 1977 through '81. He was the Sun Devils' second leading rusher in '79 (438 yards) and ranked third in total yardage behind Mark Malone and Robert Weathers that season. In 1978, he was second behind Malone in total yardage. He played both fullback and tailback with the football team, and was also a member of the ASU track squad and cleared 6-8 in the high jump.

PERSONAL: Newton was born in Charlotte, N.C., and attended North Mecklenburg High School in Charlotte, where he lettered three years each in football, basketball, and track. His 40-yard dash time is 4.59.

Vince Williams • 40

FULLBACK • OREGON • 2ND YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 220 • BORN: 10-4-59 • (D-6 IN '82)

PRO: Vince Williams showed flashes of brilliance in his brief appearances during the 1982 strike-shortened season. He played in just two regular season contests — at Denver (9-19-82) and at St. Louis (11-21-82) — but still managed 68 yards in 20 carries for a 3.4 average, plus 33 yards through the air on four catches. In four preseason games, Vince ran for 125 yards on 31 rushes (4.0 average) and caught six passes for 56 yards. Injuries formed his biggest hurdle as he missed the final six games (the final four on injured reserve) due to a severely sprained foot after missing the season opener with a hyper-extended knee. "Vince demonstrated real NFL running abilities and gained the basic knowledge in his first year so that he should now develop as a solid NFL competitor in his second season. He must, however, rid himself of continually being hampered by injury as he was in his rookie season," relates Bill Walsh. Vince was picked in the sixth round of the 1982 NFL draft as the 150th overall selection.

COLLEGE: The fifth leading rusher in Ducks' history (1,824 yards), Vince finished his college career as the all-time leading rushing fullback at Oregon. His 1981 stats included 241 rushing yards and 58 receiving yards, but his most productive season was 1978 — his sophomore year — when he ran for 842 yards and recorded 181 receiving yards. He played fullback from 1977 through '81 in Eugene.

PERSONAL: He was born Vince Bernard Williams in Tacoma, Wash., and attended Mt. Tahoma High School in Tacoma (lettering in football and track). He has 4.8 40-yard dash speed and can squat lift 625 pounds.

Carlton Williamson • 27

SAFETY • PITTSBURGH • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-0 • WT: 204 • BORN: 6-12-58 • (D-3 IN '81)

PRO: A defensive back who makes no mistakes and doesn't do anything flashy can sometimes go unnoticed by fans and writers. Carlton Williamson, if it weren't for Bill Walsh, might just slip into such a category because he just goes about his business game-after-game, simply getting the job done. However, Walsh has noticed: "Carlton is capable of being a great strong safety and conceivably the tops at his position in the National Football League," says Walsh. "He was the single biggest factor for the development of our young secondary (in '81, Williamson was one of three rookie starters with Ronnie Lott and Eric Wright in the 49ers' defensive backfield). He was so consistent all year, both in '81 and last year. He is big, strong, fast . . . and much is being expected of him in 1983." Carlton was the team's No. 4 tackler in 1981 and he was No. 3 last season with 82 and 58 tackles, respectively. He played in (and started) eight games, sitting out the Kansas City contest (12-26-82) with an injury. The fourth player taken by San Francisco as a third round choice in 1981 (65th overall selection), Williamson was named to the NFL All-Rookie Team (UPI, Pro Football Writers Association and Football Digest).

COLLEGE: Williamson led the Pitt defensive backs in tackling as both a junior and a senior. He was recruited by Pittsburgh as a fullback and switched to defense to make the traveling squad, then took over at strongside safety in his junior year. He had 65 tackles as a junior and 46 in 1980. Carlton intercepted seven career passes and had 7½ quarterback sacks on blitzes. He earned his urban science degree from Pitt in summer of 1981.

PERSONAL: Carlton was born in Atlanta Ga., and grew up there. He attended Brown High School in Atlanta, and was an All-America schoolboy quarterback. He calls Atlanta home in the offseason and lives in San Mateo during the season.

Mike Wilson • 85

WIDE RECEIVER • WASHINGTON STATE • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-3 • WT: 210 • BORN: 12-19-58 • (FA IN '81)

PRO: Mike Wilson reminds a lot of people of Dwight Clark, and that's not bad. "Yes, I'd agree," admits Bill Walsh. "Mike has hands, size and speed similar to that of Clark and he has similar abilities to Dwight. He was hampered by injury in 1982 but should return to full strength in '83 and compete for a starting job." Wilson, who could be a starter for many other NFL teams, is not unhappy backing up Clark: "I am still learning, and most of what I learn comes from observing 'DC' (Clark's nickname)," says Wilson. In six '82 games (he missed the first two on injured reserve following a finger operation and did not play against New Orleans), Mike made six catches for 80 yards and one TD (a 19-yarder against the L.A. Rams in the season finale). A highlight to his season was getting the starting nod (at running back of all places) against San Diego (12-11-82) in an even-more-than-usual pass-oriented-offensive game plan. Originally, Wilson was drafted by Dallas in the ninth round of '81 but was released in training camp (8-24-81). The 49ers signed him three days later (8-27-81) and Mike played in all 19 games as a rookie. A highlight to his '81 campaign was a key 22-yard reception in Super Bowl XVI which kept alive an important fourth period 49ers' drive.

COLLEGE: Wilson caught 47 passes for 716 yards and six TDs in three seasons at Washington State. He also rushed for 176 yards on 11 carries.

PERSONAL: Mike captained the football and basketball teams and was a sprinter on the track team at Carson High in Carson, Calif. He was All-America in basketball and football there as well. He was born in Los Angeles and grew up in Carson.

Eric Wright • 21

CORNERBACK • MISSOURI • 3RD YEAR
HT: 6-1 • WT: 180 • BORN: 4-18-59 • (D-2B IN '81)

PRO: Early in the third quarter in the 1982 season opener against the Raiders, Eric Wright picked off a Jim Plunkett pass and returned it 31 yards. "Great," he thought on the return, "a super start to the new season." In retrospect, he was wrong, 100 percent wrong. That interception may have been one of the keys to San Francisco's opening two defeats, because on that return, Eric pulled a hamstring muscle and had to leave the game. His replacement was flagged for crucial pass interference fouls which led to the winning points for the 49ers' first two 1982 opponents. And, the injury hampered Wright's play the remainder of the slate. He played in (and started) seven games in '82 and finished with 36 tackles, the Raider interception, and 11 defensed passes (2nd on the team). Wright was the 40th player taken in the 1981 NFL draft (2B by the 49ers) and started all 19 games as a rookie for the world champs. He was the team's sixth leading tackler with 75 stops and paced the squad in passes defensed with 24. He also participated in two of the featured plays of Super Bowl XVI — an interception of a Ken Anderson pass intended for Cris Collinsworth late in the fourth quarter (that theft gave the 49ers a possession — following Wright's 25-yard return — that led to their final field goal of the game and thwarted a Bengals' scoring opportunity). And he forced a fumble on the Niners' 9-yard line by Collinsworth following a reception in the second quarter (Wright stripped him of the ball and that possession led to San Francisco's second TD of the afternoon). Wright also is credited with a game saving tackle in the NFC Championship Game that paved the way for the 49ers' trip to Michigan. On that play, he collared Drew Pearson from behind following a 31-yard reception at the Niners' 44-yard line (he was the only San Francisco defender near or between Pearson and the goal).

COLLEGE: Wright was a free safety throughout college at Missouri and was a three-year starter. He was named All-America by AP and UPI as a junior when he notched a career-high 55 tackles and made honorable mention All-America (AP and Sporting News) his senior season. He played cornerback on the North squad (coached by the 49ers' coaching staff) at the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala. Eric had five interceptions and three fumble recoveries in 1980 and his 47 tackles gave him 156 for his career (94 solo). He had three interceptions against San Diego State for a Tiger record (including one for 77 yards and a score) and ended his career with 11 thefts and seven fumble recoveries.

PERSONAL: Born in St. Louis, Mo., Eric grew up in East St. Louis, Ill., where he attended Assumption High School there. He was married to the former Alvita Nicks (6-26-82). She is a graduate of Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Eric spent the past offseason student teaching first and second graders at Central School in Belmont as a requirement toward his Missouri degree.

1983 49ERS DRAFTEES

CRAIG

HOLMOE

Round 2 (49) ROGER CRAIG, FB, Nebraska, 6-0, 222

Craig played tailback and fullback for the Cornhuskers and finished his Nebraska career as the school's No. 4 all-time rusher with 2,446 yards (just three yards shy of No. 3, Rick Berns), No. 6 in touchdowns scored (26), and No. 8 in total points (158).

After playing tailback and finishing third among Big Eight rushers in 1981, Roger began his senior season as the team's starting fullback but injuries hampered him early (he severely bruised his thigh in Week No. 2, saw little action in Week 3 against Penn State, and sat out the Auburn game in Week 4). When he returned to the lineup, it was as a tailback and he shared time there with All-America underclassman Mike Rozier.

Down the stretch in '82 (the last five games), Craig gained 336 yards and scored three TDs in leading his Cornhusker teammates to a national top-five ranking, the Big Eight title, and an Orange Bowl win over LSU (21-20).

The best game of his senior year was in the regular season finale at Hawaii when he rushed for 127 yards on 18 carries and scored one TD. The finest game of his career, however, came in '81 as he rushed for 234 yards on 20 carries (including a 94-yard TD jaunt) in a Huskers' win over Florida State. Roger was named Big 8 Player-of-the-Week, and AP National and Sports Illustrated Back-of-the-Week for that performance.

Craig began his sophomore season as the squad's third string tailback but came off the bench to score 15 touchdowns (8th best in the nation in '80) as he rushed for 769 yards on 108 carries (7.1 average). In one contest during 1980, Craig replaced an injured Jarvis Redwine and rushed 21 times for 176 yards and three scores.

Also a hurdler for the track team during his tenure in Lincoln, Craig has a reported time of 4.6 in the 40-yard dash and a horizontal jump of 9-8.

At Davenport (Iowa) Central High School, Craig was a wrestler and hurdler besides being a schoolboy All-America tailback. He was born July 10, 1960.

R-3 (59) BLANCHARD MONTGOMERY, LB, UCLA, 6-2, 236

Montgomery made the switch from fullback to starting linebacker in the spring of 1980, and averaged 94 tackles per season for the Bruins while playing a major role in UCLA's Rose Bowl win over Michigan last January. In that game, he had eight tackles (5 solo/3 assists), two tackles-for-loss of 11 yards and an 11-yard interception return for a TD with eight minutes left, which sealed the Bruins' 24-14 victory.

In 1982, Montgomery returned after missing the first three contests of the season with an injury to register eight-or-more tackles in seven-of-the-last-eight games. He had 19 tackles (15 solo/4 assists) against Southern Cal, 16 against Colorado and 12 (all solo) against Arizona. Another season highlight was a 65-yard interception return for a score against Washington State.

As a junior, Blanchard was the Bruins' fourth leading tackler with 93 stops (he had 95 tackles last season). He had 12 tackles versus Washington State, 11 against Wisconsin, 10 versus Stanford, and 11 in a Bluebonnet Bowl loss to Michigan.

In 1980, Montgomery made 17 tackles as a reserve linebacker and special teams player. As a freshman, he rushed for 20 yards on five carries.

Montgomery was recruited to UCLA out of Granada Hills High School in the Los Angeles area as a tailback on a pass oriented team (QB was John Elway).

An economics major at UCLA, Montgomery was born Feb. 17, 1961. His reported 40-yard dash time is 4.61, and he played in the Senior Bowl to cap his Bruin career.

Round 4 (90) TOM HOLMOE, DB , Brigham Young, 6-2, 180

Holmoe, a cornerback who can play safety, will vie for a role in the 49ers' nickel defense this fall. The pre-med major was first team All-WAC in 1982 and finished the season with 54 total tackles (40 solo/14 assists), three interceptions for 106 yards and one score, five passes defensed, and one tackle-for-loss.

Holmoe took advantage of the 1978 NCAA freshman redshirt rule and sat out a year, then was a backup defensive back in '79, seeing most of his action on special teams. His 1979 stats included eight tackles (3 solo/5 assists) and three passes defensed.

As a sophomore in 1980, Holmoe led the WAC with seven interceptions (28 yards) and was selected Academic All-WAC and Academic All-NCAA District VIII. His stats that year included 57 total tackles (31 solo/26 assists) three tackles-for-loss, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, three passes defensed, and one kick block.

As a junior, Tom had 61 tackles (36 solo/25 assists) and three interceptions for 61 yards and a score. He had one tackle-for-loss, one fumble recovery, seven passes defensed, and one blocked punt (which he returned for a TD) in earning the team's Most Valuable Defensive Back Award for '81.

A Hula Bowl performer earlier this year, he also held for PATs and FGs at BYU and 49ers' scouts timed him in 4.52 in the 40-yard dash.

Born Mar. 7, 1960, Holmoe attended high school in La Crescenta, Calif. (Crescenta Valley HS) and he holds two school records there: longest pass reception (82 yards) and longest kickoff return (93 yards). He was All-CIF in the prep ranks.

Round 5 (117) RIKI ELLISON, LB, USC, 6-2, 220

One of very few athletes to every start at USC as a freshman, Ellison was the third leading tackler (86 total) on the 1978 National Championship Trojan squad, and sparked a 17-10 Rose Bowl win over Michigan with a team-high 15 tackles.

He returned in 1982 and led the Trojans with a career-high 131 total tackles, after missing the entire '81 campaign following the third knee operation of his collegiate career.

A highlight to his senior season was being named KABC-TV Defensive Player-of-the-Game after USC shut out Oklahoma, 12-0, breaking the Sooners' NCAA record of 181 straight games in which they had scored. Riki made 13 total tackles in that game (9 solo), including one for a loss of eight yards.

As a junior in 1980, Ellison had 59 tackles despite missing four games with a knee injury. His best '80 performances came against South Carolina (13 tackles) and UCLA (11).

In his sophomore season, he was second only to All-America Dennis Johnson in team tackles with 96. He had 13 against Notre Dame, 11 against Stanford and 10 against both UCLA and Arizona. In USC's 17-16 Rose Bowl win over Ohio State that year, Riki had nine tackles, including three straight to turn the Buckeyes away at the two-yard line.

Riki came to America from New Zealand with his mother in 1971 after his parents were divorced and since his return visit to New Zealand in the summer of '81, he has used his actual last name of Ellison. He presently goes by Riki Ellison, although he played at SC as Riki Gray.

A 1981 Southern Cal graduate in physical education, Ellison currently is working on his second degree in International Relations. He was born Aug. 15, 1960, and attended Amphitheater High School in Tucson, Ariz., where he was an unanimous All-America selection.

Round 7 (175) GARY MOTEN, LB, SMU, 6-1, 210

Moten, a product of Clute, Tex., paced the Mustangs' defense in tackles the past three seasons with totals of 138 (1982) total tackles, 139 (1981), and 131 (1980). He compiled a four-year total of 455 tackles, all while playing inside linebacker at 200 pounds in a running football conference.

In earning honorable mention All-America and first team All-SWC honors in 1982, Moten amassed a team-best 79 solo tackles and a team-high 59 assists for the leading total of 138 stops. His top effort was against Texas Tech, 24 tackles. Moten led the SMU tacklers in his team's Cotton Bowl win over Pittsburgh with 12 (7 solo/5 assists). Gary capped his career in the Japan Bowl.

As a junior, despite playing in only nine of 11 games, Gary paced the Mustangs in solo stops (56), assists (83) and total tackles (139) and had a game-high 21 tackles against Texas. He earned his initial start as a sophomore and responded with a team-high 131 total tackles (including a squad-best 106 assists). His sophomore best was a 25-stop performance against Texas Tech.

"Motion," as he is nicknamed, was an All-Greater Houston, all-district, all county and all-state pick in Texas schoolboy football. On offense, as a short yardage fullback, Moten scored five TDs on 16 carries for Brazoswood High of Clute, Tex. (Pop. 6,300).

Born Apr. 3, 1961, Gary was a psychology major. He has 4.85 40-yard speed.

Round 9 (229) MIKE MULARKEY, TE, Florida, 6-4, 245

Mularkey, who was recruited to Florida from Fort Lauderdale Northeast High School four years ago as a 200-pound quarterback, was picked more for his talent and potential than "for need," according to 49ers' Director of College Scouting Tony Razzano.

"We couldn't resist," admitted Razzano. "We followed him throughout the earlier rounds and we were surprised he remained on the board for so long. We had him rated much higher than the ninth round."

Mularkey finished 13th in the Southeastern Conference in receiving in 1982 with 29 catches for 356 yards and a 12.3 average (1 TD). In 1981, Mike had 23 catches for 257 yards and two scores (11.2 average) to go with just three catches for 15 yards in 1980 when he was a backup player.

Round 10 (259) JEFF MERRELL, NT, Nebraska, 6-4, 264

Merrell joins Nebraska teammate Roger Craig as 49ers' draft picks in '83. Jeff was the Cornhuskers' No. 2 tackler in 1982 with 54 tackles (38 solo/16 assists) and had a team-best six tackles-for-loss of 18 yards. He had his best '82 day in a return to his home state, Alabama, in a game against Auburn (7 tackles, 3 tackles-for-loss of 8 yards).

As a junior in '81, Merrell's best day came in his first start against Florida State (9 tackles, 6 unassisted and 2 QB sacks). While a reserve nose guard in 1980, he compiled 22 total tackles (10 solo/12 assists).

One of the country's top recruited prep linemen, Merrell was an All-America offensive tackle and defensive end at Butler High School in Huntsville, Ala.

He was born Jan. 14, 1961. Merrell's timed 40 speed is 4.94.

Round 11 (286) JESSE SAPOLU, G, Hawaii, 6-4, 260

Sapolu, a three-year starter at guard for the University of Hawaii Rainbows, became the San Francisco 49ers' final pick of the 1983 NFL College Draft when the Niners tabbed him as the 286th overall selection.

The All-WAC performer at guard (who shifted to center for his senior season) earned Freshman All-America honors in 1979 and was honorable mention All-America and All-Coast in 1980, his sophomore season. He was the only sophomore selected to the All-WAC team in '80.

Hawaii recruited Sapolu out of Farrington High School in Southern California. He was team captain and earned all-state honors as a senior at Farrington, where he earned three football letters (as well as letters in track, basketball and wrestling).

Jesse was born in Western Samoa and is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Pa'apa'a Sapolu of San Diego, Calif.

Sapolu is the first offensive lineman selected by San Francisco since the No. 1 pick of 1982, William "Bubba" Paris from Michigan. He and Paris are the only offensive linemen the 49ers have drafted the past five years.

Other 49ers With Pro Experience

JEFF ALLEN (5-11, 185) is a third year cornerback who played previously with Miami and San Diego. The Dolphins' eighth round selection in 1980, he was credited with 19 tackles in 16 games. He played with the Toronto Argonauts and British Columbia Lions of Canadian League in 1981. He signed with San Diego in 1982 and recorded 32 tackles and one interception in nine regular season games. His crucial interception in the playoff game against Pittsburgh led to a Charger touchdown and sparked a San Diego comeback over the Steelers (31-28). Allen was acquired by the 49ers for an undisclosed future draft choice. He attended UC-Davis where he earned All-America honors in Division II. Had ten career interceptions at Davis. Played H.S. football for the Cordova Lancers in Rancho Cordova, California.

CHUCK EVANS (6-3, 235) is a Stanford graduate who played two seasons with the New Orleans Saints. During 1981, Evans was used by the Saints at either inside or outside linebacker on passing downs, and was a regular on most of the New Orleans special teams. His rookie season of '80 was slowed by an injury (shoulder separation) that had him on injured reserve the first two months of the season. He was waived by the Saints at the conclusion of preseason a year ago and was out of football last fall. At Stanford, he was the defensive team captain in 1979 and the Cardinal defensive MVP. He also was an honorable mention All-America selection by AP that year when he led Stanford with 118 total tackles, including 83 unassisted tackles. He played defensive tackle and end in college. He originally was the Saints No. 8 draft selection in the '80 draft.

CALVIN FAVRON (6-1, 227), originally the St. Louis Cardinals' No. 2 draft selection in 1979 (46th player picked that year), played three and one-half seasons with the Cardinals until waived during the first week of December last year. He started seven games at inside linebacker in 1981 and turned in his best pro season that year with 47 tackles, 1 sack, 1 interception and 1 fumble recovery. A product of Southeast Louisiana where he was an All-Gulf Coast Conference defensive end on a team that led the NCAA Division II in fewest points allowed and was second in total defense his senior year, Favron is from White Castle, La. He played both inside and outside linebacker during his St. Louis career.

CLIFF PARSLEY (6-1, 212) is a seventh year veteran punter. He was selected in the sixth round of the 1977 NFL draft by New Orleans and traded by the Saints to Houston for future considerations in Sept. of '77 (a 6th in '78). He attended Oklahoma State University prior to the '77 NFL draft. His stats by years have been: 1977 — 14 games, 77 punts, 39.4 average 1978 — 16 games, 91 punts, 38.9 average, 1979 — 16 games, 93 punts, 40.6 average, 1980 — 16 games, 67 punts, 40.7 average, 1981 — 16 games, 79 punts, 39.7 average, and 1982 — 4 games, 24 punts, 38.6 average.

LEON PERRY (5-11, 230) was the New York Giants' starting running back at the beginning of the 1982 season, and moved to the starting fullback slot when Rob Carpenter held out. A slow start last year led to Perry's being waived the first week of December. He was let go when Carpenter returned to the team. Prior to that, he started alongside Carpenter in the Giants' playoff season of '81, finishing as the team's second-leading rusher with 257 yards and a 3.6 average, while adding 13 receptions for another 140 yards. He made the Giants as a free agent out of Mississippi in 1980, playing in ten games that year, starting five of them at fullback. He ended '80 with 272 yards on 59 carries (4.6 avg.) and caught 8 passes for 84 yards and had 2 TD's overall. In his first professional start, against Dallas in '80, he rushed for 52 yards and a touchdown in a 38-35 upset win, then rushed for 98 yards on 15 carries against eventual Super Bowl champion Oakland in a later game that season. He also caught an 11-yard TD pass against the Raiders. A product of Gloster, Miss., the 25-year-old Perry played four seasons at Ole Miss, the last two as the starting fullback.

The 49ers On Radio

The 49ers' radio signal in 1983 will (for the second season) form the strongest network in club history as KCBS enters its final season of a three year contract. The KCBS (flagship station) signal alone reaches 35 California counties with its 50,000 watt range. In all, 17 stations throughout the state, plus one each in Reno, Nev., and Honolulu, Hi., make up the 49ers' network.

In the booth, Don Klein (play-by-play) again joins Don Heinrich (color commentator) broadcasting 49er football.

Klein, a University of Washington graduate joined KCBS as sports director in 1956. He was the voice of Stanford University football and basketball for 26 years and has done a number of radio broadcasts for CBS' Monday Night Football games.

Heinrich enters his second season with the 49ers as color analyst. Heinrich is a former NFL quarterback (NY Giants, 1954-59; Dallas, 1960) and like Klein is also a Huskie alumni. A former 49ers' assistant coach, Don is currently the publisher of "Scouting Report", an NFL preview magazine.

The 1983 network includes: KCBS (74 am) San Francisco, KPAY Chico, KINS Eureka, KDAC Fort Bragg, KMJ Fresno, KBEE Modesto, KWSD Mt. Shasta, KOCH Pacific Grove, KBLF Red Bluff, KOMS Redding, KVEC San Luis Obispo, KUBA Yuba City, KSYC Yreka, KIAH Ukiah, KJOY Stockton, KFBK Sacramento, KOWL S. Lake Tahoe, KOH Reno, and KHVH Honolulu.

4. Acquired G-T Jeff Williams from the Bears for No. 9 pick acquired from Cleveland (Bahr) and a No. 12 choice (1983). Jeff Williams failed physical and was returned to Chicago. 49ers will receive Bears' Nos. 9 & 12 picks in 1984.
5. Traded No. 6 draft choice (1983) to Tampa Bay for Buccaneers' No. 4 draft choice (1984).
6. Acquired CB Jeff Allen from the Chargers for a future undisclosed draft choice.

The 49ers' Historical Highlights

Here are the team's historical highlights beginning with its first year in the NFL:

1950 — The 49ers fell flat on their faces in their NFL debut, winning only three games. A rival coach described them as "not big enough or tough enough."

1951 — In an amazing reversal of form sparked by a great rookie group, the 49ers were in the race to the final day and finished only a half game off the top. Led by Hardy Brown and his famed "shoulder tackle" the club had one of the toughest defensive units in the league. Y.A. Tittle and Billy Wilson began their great careers.

1952 — After a blazing start, the 49ers slumped in mid-season Hugh (The King) McElhenny came off the University of Washington campus to become "Player of the Year" and the most feared runner in football.

1953 — The 49ers had their best NFL showing, 9-3, normally good enough for a championship. Detroit, however, was 10-2. Two of the San Francisco losses came with Y.A. Tittle benched because of a severe facial injury. The three defeats were by a total of nine points. Joe (Jet) Perry became one of the few players in pro history to gain more than 1,000 yards in a single season. Gordy Soltau was the league's top scorer for the second straight year.

1954 — Early momentum was broken by injuries to key players such as Y.A. Tittle, Hugh McElhenny, and Joe Perry. Perry gained more than 1,000 yards again, the first man ever to achieve this distinction.

1955 — With Hugh McElhenny hobbled by a foot injury, the 49ers had their second worst season in history under Norman P. Strader who succeeded Buck Shaw as a head coach.

1956 — In Frankie Albert's first year at the helm, the 49ers were bogged in last place at mid-season with a 1-6 record. They won four and tied one of their last five games for a brilliant stretch drive.

1957 — This undoubtedly was one of the most emotional and dramatic seasons in 49ers history. Every game was a "Cliffhanger" and the "Alley-Oop" pass from Y.A. Tittle to rookie R.C. Owens became a household byword. Emotions reached a peak when the beloved Tony Morabito collapsed and died of a heart attack at the Chicago Bears game on Oct. 27. Trailing 17-7, the 49ers fought back for a great victory, 21-17. The magnificent Billy Wilson caught a pass from Tittle for the winning touchdown in the fourth quarter. Tied with Detroit at 8-4 when the season ended, the 49ers lost the playoff game, 31-27, although they held a 27-7 lead in the third quarter.

1958 — An up-and-down season which finished on a high note when Green Bay and Baltimore were defeated in the last two games. The 6-6 record, however, was blackened by the 33-3 and 56-7 lacing at the hands of Los Angeles and Frankie Albert resigned at the end of the year.

1959 — With Howard W. Hickey in charge, the 49ers were in contention all the way and John Brodie came into his own at quarterback when he led the team to a 21-20 upset of Cleveland. J.D. Smith, converted from a defensive back, became the second 49er to accumulate more than 1,000 yards rushing.

1960 — Hickey saved a seemingly hopeless season when he installed his Shotgun attack and the club captured four of the last five games to finish in a tie for second place. Third-string quarterback Bobby Waters threw the passes that upset Baltimore, 30-22, in the final two minutes.

1961 — The success of Howard W. Hickey's Shotgun amazed the football world, especially the 49-0 victory over Detroit. Quarterback Bill Kilmer, a passing-running rookie from UCLA, was made to order for the new offense. When the Shotgun was stopped, John Brodie took over again in the "T" and had the finest season in 49er QB annals. Indicating the evenness of NFL competition, the 49ers were playing for a second-place tie, plus a trip to the Runner-up Bowl at Miami, or a fifth-place position on the last day of the season. The Colts again won by three points, but 1961 must remain as one of the most exciting and interesting years in 49ers history.

1962 — For the first time since 1956, the 49ers finished a frustrating season with more defeats than victories. In so doing, the honored adage of "it's easier to win at home than on the road," proved false — the 49ers won only one of seven at home, but captured five of seven road contests.

1963 — Injuries in multitude to key personnel started the 49ers off to a disappointing 2-12 league season. One of the victories, however, was a smashing 20-14 upset of ultimate World Champion Chicago, the only league defeat suffered by the Bears all season.

1964 — Club chief executive Victor P. Morabito died of a heart attack in May. Injury to key personnel prevented the 49ers from gaining enough offensive momentum to forge a winning season although they proved to be one of the toughest defensive clubs in the league. Outstanding rookie performances by end Dave Parks, quarterback George Mira and linebacker Dave Wilcox also took some of the sting from the 4-10 overall record.

1965 — Outstanding offensive performances enabled the 49ers to jump from the bottom to fourth place in the Western Division as the team led the NFL in both scoring and total offense. John Brodie was the most productive passer in the NFL, Dave Parks led the league in receiving and rookie Ken Willard and veteran John David Crow, acquired in an off-season trade, led a strong ground game. The over-all record was 7-6-1 and the season-opening 52-24 beating of the Chicago Bears marked the largest number of points ever scored by the 49ers in NFL play.

1966 — After a somewhat slow start, the 49ers got in gear just before midway in the season and became one of only two teams to beat the eventual World Champion Green Bay Packers. After that, they rolled to a respectable 6-6-2 record and were in the battle for second place in the Western Division until the final league game. Guard John Thomas and end Dave Parks were All-Pro, and they joined guard Howard Mudd, center Bruce Bosley, fullback Ken Willard and linebacker Dave Wilcox in the Pro Bowl.

1967 — An auspicious start (they were 5-1) disintegrated into disappointment for the 49ers as injuries took a heavy toll and a six-game losing streak took them out of the running. Quarterback George Mira came off the bench to lead the squad to two season-ending victories and salvage a 7-7 record. There were bright spots however, as, with John Brodie in fine form, the 49ers were the only team to beat the power-laden Rams in a league game, guard Howard Mudd and linebacker Dave Wilcox were named to All-Pro teams, and Mudd and center Bruce Bosley played in the Pro Bowl for the second straight time.

1968 — Under new coach Dick Nolan, the 49ers posted a 7-6-1 record as the season turned on key wins over New York, 26-10, and Green Bay, 27-20. Brilliant performances by QB John Brodie, receiver Clifton McNeil and running back Ken Willard led a prolific offense, while tackle Charlie Krueger, linebacker Dave Wilcox and defensive back Kermit Alexander, sparked a revitalized defense. McNeil and guard Howard Mudd were chosen All-NFL, and joined by Wilcox, Willard and Alexander in the Pro Bowl.

1969 — Beset by injuries that nearly decimated the defensive unit, the 49ers struggled through the early part of the season, went five games before beating Baltimore, the first time they had done that in 13 previous games. It got a little better after that (final record was 4-8-2) and five players — Jimmy Johnson, Dave Wilcox, Elmer Collett, Ken Willard and rookie Gene Washington — were selected for the Pro Bowl. Johnson was also All-Pro and winner of the Eshmont Award.

1970 — This was the greatest year since the club became a member of the NFL in 1950. The 10-3 record was the best as an NFL club, the Western Division (NFC) championship was the first in the NFL. In a season of superlatives, John Brodie was the NFL's "Player of the Year," Bruce Taylor was NFC "Rookie of the Year," Coach Dick Nolan was a near-unanimous choice as NFC "Coach of the Year." Brodie, receiver Gene Washington, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined by tackle Len Rohde in being selected for the Pro Bowl.

1971 — The 49ers forged a 9-5-0 record and won their second consecutive NFC Western Division title, clinching the crown on the final day by beating Detroit, 31-27, the identical score by which the Lions had knocked the 49ers out of championship play in the bitterly-remembered 1957 game. The season was also the club's first in its plush new home, Candlestick Park. Center Forrest Blue, linebacker Dave Wilcox and cornerback Jimmy Johnson were All-Pro and joined in the Pro Bowl by Ted Kwalick, Gene Washington, Vic Washington, Cedrick Hardman and Bruce Taylor.

1972 — Early-season inconsistency compounded by an injury to John Brodie in the fifth game of the season cast a pall on 49er prospects for a third-straight NFC Western Division title, but Steve Spurrier stepped in for Brodie and turned things around with a brilliant, poised performance. In the final quarter of the final game the recovered Brodie relieved Spurrier and threw two TD passes for a 20-17 win over Minnesota that clinched divisional title No. 3, but Spurrier's nine-game contribution was the key. Center Forrest Blue, defensive back Jimmy Johnson, tight end Ted Kwalick, wide receiver Gene Washington and linebacker Dave Wilcox were All-Pro selections.

1973 — In what was both a disappointing and significant year, the 49ers were 5-9 after tackling the NFL's toughest schedule and falling victim to a rash of key injuries and an unsettled quarterback situation. It also marked the end of the brilliant careers of quarterback John Brodie and defensive tackle Charlie Krueger, both of whom retired at year's end. Center Forrest Blue and Dave Wilcox were All-Pro and joined in the Pro Bowl by Ted Kwalick, Woody Peoples and Tom Wittum.

1974 — The 49ers used five different quarterbacks after an injury to starter Steve Spurrier a week before the season opened sidelined him for most of the year. After winning the first two games the club lost a team record seven straight and then closed with a rush, winning four of the last five games to finish the season at 6-8. Running back Wilbur Jackson was named The Sporting News "Rookie of the Year" and was named to the NFL All-Rookie team along with quarterback Tom Owen and defensive back Mike Holmes. Center Forrest Blue and punter Tom Wittum were All-NFC and selected for the Pro Bowl along with Jimmy Johnson. A knee injury forced perennial All-Pro linebacker Dave Wilcox to retire after a brilliant 11-year career with the 49ers.

1975 — A strong defensive performance throughout the season couldn't offset an erratic offense troubled by an unsettled quarterback situation and a rebuilding offensive line. High point of the 5-9 season was a 24-23 win over Los Angeles to end a 10-game losing streak to the Rams. At season's end, defensive end Cedrick Hardman was the club's only All-Pro selection and only player chosen for the Pro Bowl. Jimmy Johnson became the club's first-ever two-time Eshmont Award winner.

1976 — A turnaround year for the 49ers as the team, under coach Monte Clark, posted an 8-6 record, their first winning season since 1972. With new quarterback Jim Plunkett at the controls, the 49ers got off to their best start ever, 6-1, before hitting a mid-season four-game losing streak that knocked the club out of the playoff contention. The season saw the emergence of a powerful defensive unit that led the league in quarterback sacks with 61. Delvin Williams set a 49ers single-season rushing record with his 1,203 yards on the ground. Tommy Hart was named All-Pro and played in the Pro Bowl along with Williams, Cleveland Elam, and Dave Washington. Center Randy Cross was an All-Rookie team selection. Tommy Hart became a two-time winner of the Eshmont Award and Cornerback Jimmy Johnson retired after a brilliant 16-year career with the 49ers.

1977 — In the 32nd year of their existence, the 49ers began an all new era. On March 31, 1977, the club became the property of Edward J. DeBartolo, Jr., and came under the guidance of Joe Thomas as general manager. The changeover was made more dramatic because the San Francisco 49ers were one of the few NFL franchises which had never previously changed ownership or location. On the field, under Coach Ken Meyer, the 49ers ran hot and cold. The club lost its first five games, then won five of the next six before dropping the final three contests for a 5-9 record overall. Strong safety Mel Phillips was named winner of the coveted Eshmont Award. Cleveland Elam was selected All-Pro and played for the NFC team in the Pro Bowl.

1978 — The 49ers suffered through their longest season as the club fell to 2-14 in '78 and three coaches were hired and fired in less than 12 months. First, Pete McClulley departed after nine games with a 1-8 record, and his replacement, Fred O'Connor, was let go at the end of the year as the team won just one of its final seven contests. Bill Walsh was hired as the new Coach and General Manager on January 9, 1979, replacing O'Connor as coach and Joe Thomas as General Manager. Running back Paul Hofer, who replaced acclaimed O.J. Simpson when the newly-acquired star went to the sidelines for the year with a shoulder injury, was named recipient of the Len Eshmont Award.

1979 — The 49ers suffered through their second consecutive 2-14 season, but there were several indications of improvement. San Francisco went from virtually the worst ranked offensive team in the league in '78 to one of the most productive offensive units in the NFL in '79, ranking first in passing offense in the NFC and sixth in total offense in the NFL. Running back Pual Hofer again was the Len Eshmont Award recipient and individual leader, racking up 615 yards rushing and an additional 662 yards receiving on 58 catches in only seven starts. Quarterback Steve DeBerg broke Fran Tarkenton's NFL record for completions by connecting on 347 passes. Kicker Ray Wersching set a club record 83.3 field goal percentage, also leading the league with that mark. No 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl squad. O.J. Simpson retired from the 49ers and the NFL, finishing as the second leading rusher of all time with 11,236 yards.

1980 — In their second season of the Bill Walsh era, the 49ers showed gradual improvement in their rebuilding program. A three-game winning streak to open the season, combined with a three-game victory string from Week 12 through Week 14 enabled the Niners to post a 6-10 season, tripling the number of victories from each of the previous two 2-14 campaigns. Week 14 was a day when the 49ers made NFL history. That Dec. 7 in Candlestick Park, the 49ers overcame a 35-7 halftime deficit to the New Orleans Saints to win in overtime, 38-35. The 28-point comeback was the biggest points-margin-comeback in NFL history. Randy Cross at guard and Freddie Solomon as a punt returner were All-NFC selections by Pro Football Weekly. In addition, linebacker Bobby Leopold, defensive end Jim Stuckey and punter Jim Miller were named to All-Rookie teams, while another rookie, fullback Earl Cooper, led the NFC in receptions with a team-record 83, the most catches ever by an NFL rookie. Dwight Clark caught 82 passes to break the team wide receiver mark, and Joe Montana set the club passing percentage record at .645 with 176 completions in 273 attempts.

1981 — It was a year of firsts and bests for the 49ers in 1981. In his third season as head coach and general manager, Bill Walsh guided San Francisco to: a 16-3 record (best 1981 record in the league, fourth best in NFL history, and best ever for the 49ers), the NFC Western Division title (first since '72), the NFC Championship crown (first ever for the 49ers), and the World Championship/Super Bowl XVI win (first ever for the 49ers). Walsh was named to every possible NFC Coach-of-the-Year award and to all seven NFL Coach-of-the-Year honors, while six 49ers were named to the Pro Bowl — Dwight Clark, Randy Cross, Joe Montana, Fred Dean, Ronnie Lott, and Dwight Hicks). Three San Francisco players were selected to All-Pro teams as recognized by the NFL — Cross, Lott and Dean. Montana, who led the NFC in passing in '81, was named MVP of Super Bowl XVI (for leading his team to a 26-21 win over the Cincinnati Bengals of the AFC). Dean was picked UPI NFL Defensive Player-of-the-Year, NFL Outstanding Defensive Lineman-of-the-Year (NFL Players Association), and NFC Defensive Player-of-the-Year (Kansas City Committee of the 101). San Francisco opened and closed the season in Pontiac, Mich., in drastically different styles. The 49ers lost two of their first three games of 1981, including that season opener on the road against Detroit, then ran off seven wins — before a loss to Cleveland 15-12 — and ran off eight more wins (including the playoffs, the NFC Championship, and Super Bowl XVI). The 49ers won 15 of their last 16 games, beat five opponents twice — including all three postseason foes — and became the first team since Chicago in 1945-46-47 to go from the worst NFL record (2-14 in 1979) to the league's best (13-3 in '81) in just three seasons. All this happened with three rookies (Carlton Williamson, Eric Wright, and Lott) starting in the defensive secondary. Those three rookies, along with Montana, Clark, Cross, Freddie Solomon, and Hicks, combined with "old veterans" Dean and Jack "Hacksaw" Reynolds to form a nucleus of world championship vintage.

1982 — The defending world champions — the San Francisco 49ers — did not enjoy the 1982 season . . . but then, not many NFL fans, coaches and players throughout the league did (except maybe in Washington, where the Redskins won Super Bowl XVII). The Niners fell to 3-6 and missed out on the playoffs in the strike-shortened season. San Francisco went winless at home (0-5) but did manage a 3-1 road record (the Niners were 0-2 prior to the 57-day players' strike and 3-4 following it). Dwight Clark had an outstanding season, leading the NFL with 60 receptions and being named consensus all-pro (and NFL Player-of-the-Year by Sports Illustrated). Keena Turner (2nd team all-pro), Ronnie Lott (Pro Bowl), Randy Cross (Pro Bowl), Dwight Hicks (Pro Bowl) Keith Fahnhorst, and Joe Montana (NFL record for five straight +300-yard passing games) were bright spots in an otherwise disappointing season.

Stadium Information

The San Francisco 49ers begin their 13th year in Candlestick Park. Candlestick is one of 16 combination pro football and baseball stadiums used by NFL teams.

The "new" Candlestick was completed in 1972 (the 49ers played in the park while it was still under construction in 1971), when it was completely encircled, carpeted with Astroturf, furnished throughout with comfortable chairs (no bleachers), and surrounded by additional parking space.

The stadium seats 61,097 for football. There are three major ticket plazas and entry levels. Every seat in the stadium is a chairtype, plastic unit for comfort and durability. Completely double-decked, the park features a 7,394-seat movable section.

In the spring of 1979, the artificial turf was replaced by natural grass.
